GEORGE MORTON was born about 1581 in Austerfield,Yorkshire, England; baptised at Austerfield Feb.18,1598 when in his 18th.year; was a merchant of Austerfield; later lived at Bawtry near Scrooby Manor. He joined the Pilgrims at Leyden,Holland and acted as financial agent for the Plymouth Colony. As such,he purchased the "Mayflower". He is most noted for his publication in London in 1622 of what has since been known as "Mourt's Relation",but entitled "Relation of Journall of the beginning and proceedings of the English Plantation settled at Plimouth in New England by certain English Adventurores,both Merchants and Others,with their difficult passage, their safe arrival,their joyfull building of and comfortable planting themselves in the now well defended Town of New Plimouth". This may be termed the first history of New England and is a collection of letters and journals from the chief colonists at Plymouth and addressed to George Morton who wrote a quaint and interesting preface. It is full of interesting information and still continues as an authority. Quoting from a memorial that cronicles his decease: "Mr.George Morton was a pious,gracious servant of God and very faithful in whatsoever public employment he was trusted withal. With much comfort and peace he fell asleep in the Lord in the month of June anno.1624".

Oliver Smith,son of Samuel and Mary Morton Smith,and grand son of OSEPH and CANADA WAITE SMITH,was born 1766. He was shrewd and uccessful cattle fattener and Wall Street speculator. He left to orthampton and seven nearby towns one of the most remarkable charities n America. For a hundred years the Smith Charities have indentured oys to farming and girls to house work,providing them with $500 to 300 apiece respectively,at the end of the apprentice period. In ddition,$50 gifts are made to widows and the same amount to women etween the ages of 18 and 45 who are about to marry. Recipients must ive in one of these eight towns. In addition Smith Charities support trade and agricultural school. Oliver Smith died a bachelor in 1845 eaving $400,000 to this fund which now amounts to nearly $2,000,000. ephews and nieces tried to break the will retaining Rufus Choate; but aniel Webster won the suit for the trustees. A niece,Sophia Smith a inster in Hatfield,spurred on by a conscientious clergyman,the Rev. hn Morton Greene,bequeathed her fortune inherited from a brother,to ound Smith College for women at Northampton. It was opened in 1875 th 14 students. In World War II it was given over in part to the raining of WAVES.

From: The Morton Family Tree compiled by John d. Morton (1947)

The Reverend Thomas Hooker,leader of the first colonists into Connecticut,enunciated for the first time in America the doctrine of government only by the consent of the governed. This principle was embodied in the Fundimental Orders of 1639,thence taken into the State Constitution of Connecticut,"that all political power is inherent in the people,and all free governments are founded on their authority and instituted for their benefit; that they have at all times an undeniable and indefeasable right to alter their form of government in such manner as they may think expedient". Later the provisions of the Connecticut Constitution greatly influenced the framers of our Constitution of the United States of America. Here are notes of a sermon preached May 31,1638 at Hartford by Rev.Thomas Hooker.

Text: Deut.I:13. "Take you wise men and understanding and known among your tribes,and I will make them rulers over you". Captains over thousands,and captains over hundreds,-over fifties,-over tens,etc.

Doctrine I. That the choice of public magistrates belongs unto the people,by God's own allowance.

II. The privilege of election,which belongs to the people,therefore must not be exercised according to their humours,but according to the blessed will and law of God.

III. They who have power to appoint officers and magistrates,it is in their power also to set the bounds and limitations of the power and place unto which they call them.

Reasons: 1. Because the foundation of authority is laid firstly in the free consent of the people.

2. Because by free choice the hearts of the people will be more inclined to the love of the persons (chosen) and more ready to yield (obedience).

3. Because of that duty and engagement of the people.

Uses: The lesson taught is threefold:-

1st. There is the matter of thankful acknowledgment in the (appreciation) of God's faithfulness toward us,and the permission of those measures that God doth command and vouchsafe.

2dly. Of reproof:-to dash the conceits of all those that shall oppose it.

3dly. Of exhortation: to persuade us,as God has given us liberty,, to take it.

And lastly: as God hath spared our lives and given us them in liberty so to seek the guidance of God and to choose in God and for God.

The framers of our Constitution of the United States were greatly influenced by the doctrines expounded by a man who lived a century and a half before. That man,the Rev.Thomas Hooker and leader of a small band of followers,no doubt was greatly influenced by members of his company. Among that band were the following,all of whom were direct ancestors of Chauncey Morton: John Webster,his wife Agnes and daughter Anne; William Lewis,his wife Felix and son William; and Samuel Smith his wife Elizabeth and sons Philip and John.

Subject: more MYERS photos! `

Hi Ed,

I just re-connected with another distant cousin of ours, from our Myers side. We stem from Lucinda Myers-Conard & Belva stems from Lucinda's brother, Fred Myers Jr. His first wife was Jane Smith. They finally settled in Kansas.
Below is what Belva said:

As far as the picture of Fred and Jane's family I received that about 2 years ago. Fred remarried after Jane died and I just received a picture of them.

The first is Fred and Janes family, so Fred and Jane are my great greatgrandparents. My great grandma is on the far right, front row, heavy set.

The next picture is of Fred K second marriage. Her name was Kate Leonard. His kids didn't want her to have anything because they were married such a short time. She took his kids to court and received I think $68, not sure about the amount.

Modified Register for Alexander NAISH

First Generation

1. Alexander NAISH was born 6 Aug 1609 in Benson, Oxfordshire, England.

Alexander married Alice BURGES in England. Alice was born 1605 in Drew, Somerset, England. She died 1680 in Weymouth, Norfolk, Massachusetts.

They had the following children:

+ 2 M i. Thomas NASH was born 8 Oct 1637.

Second Generation

2. Thomas NASH (Alexander) was born 8 Oct 1637 in Massachusetts.

It was impossible at this time to identify Thomas Nash's spouse. Records that I found stated that his spouse was Alice Burges, born 1605, England. The Alice Burges born 1605 was apparently his mother. Access to England's records could possibly help clear up this impasse. It's possible that there were two Alice Burgeses, but it's unlikely that Thomas, born 1637, would marry an Alice born in 1605. B. Leach

It was also unclear at this time whether Thomas Nash, born 1637, was born in England or Massachusetts.

Thomas and his spouse had the following children:

+ 3 M i. Francis NASH was born about 1659 and died 3 Aug 1713.

Third Generation

3. Francis NASH (Thomas NASH, Alexander) was born about 1659 in Braintree, Norfolk, Massachusetts. He died 3 Aug 1713 in Braintree, Norfolk, Massachusetts.

Notes by Vernon S. Phillips, DO, 750 Canyon Trail, Akron, Ohio, August, 1933. The earliest mention of Francis Nash occurs in Farmer's Genealogical Register where he is reported as being in Captain Johnson's Company in the Indian War of 1675. This is doubtless King Phillip's War, which was especially savage in Braintree and vicinity. The inhabitants of Weymouth were massacred in 1675.

He (Francis) resided in Braintree, Massachusetts about ten miles from Boston. Braintree afterwards became famous as the home of John Adams and John Quincy Adams. Francis Nash'a home was is on what is now Liberty Street, near Grove Street, above Pratt's landing, about two and one-half miles from Weymouth Landing. The spot is easily identified.

March 4, 1693, he bought of Samuel White and his wife, Mary, one hundred acres of land for one hundred pounds which he added to his homestead. His first wife was Elizabeth. They had at least six children. The date of her death is not recorded. He married his second wife April 5, 1697, Mary Purchas Niles, widow of Increase Niles. She probably was the daughter of John Purchas of Boston. She was married to Increase Niles, April 10, 1677, by the Governor, John Leverett. Francis Nash and Mary had two children.

He was a farmer in ordinary circumstances, apparently industrious, frugal, attending to his own affairs without much ado.

There was a James Nash of Weymouth and Abington and he had a son Lieut. Jacob Nash, and several other children. Francis was a near neighbor and contemporary of Lt. Jacob Nash, though no relationship has been established. Members of the two families intermarried on several occasions.

+ 16 M v. Jacob NASH was born about 1737 and died after 4 Jul 1826.

Fifth Generation

16. Jacob NASH (John NASH, Francis NASH, Thomas NASH, Alexander) was born about 1737 in Braintree, Norfolk, Massachusetts. He died after 4 Jul 1826 in Denmark, Lewis, New York and was buried in Denmark, Lewis, New York.

These notes were copied from The Nash Family, "The Puritan Manuscripts" by Vernon S. Phillips, D.O., 790 Canyon Trail, Akron, Ohio, August, 1933.

She was born in 1744, died in Cummington, (Massachusetts), August 12, 1812. After her death Jacob lived with his daughter, Mercy, and son-in-law, Daniel Reed,at Cummington, and then moved to Denmark, Lewis County, New York, to live with his son, James. In the History of Lewis County by Hough, page 297, it is recorded that on July 4, 1826 they celebrated at Lowville, the county-seat, the semi-centennial of the signing ofthe Declaration of Independence. Fifty five Revolutionary veterans were present at the dinner, among them, "Jacob Nash of Denmark, former resident of Braintree, age, 90. Mrs. Ashley, his grand daughter, says "he was of medium size, fair complexion, blue eyes and a long beard. He dressed in short breachers, long stocking and knee buckles. He was a fine singer, as were all his children and a strict Presbyterian." Mrs. Iva Martin of Utica, New York, says "Jacob Nash is buried in Denmark. The graveyard is at the top of the steepest hill and Jacob's grave is at the summit. Someone wrote epitaphs for them all." Jacob was wounded in the (Revolutionary) War.

Dear LoisAnn:

This is just a note to see if you have any additional Oakes data for me. I have been sidetracked from my objective for awhile with vacations, company, etc., but I now hope to gather some additional data on a few families. I would like to print what I have by the end of 2000.

I will try to call Marie near the end of September. I hope you had a nice Labor Day holiday.

My older daughter who currently lives in Drexel Hill was here last week with her family. They were going to buy a home in the area, but they now feel that they will probably be back on the West Coast within two years. She is now busily looking for a home to rent.

Sincerely,

Betty Leach

Dear Betty:

Not to worry about the slip of the finger; it gave me a chuckle.

I think my grandfather, Henry, died in December 1933. I must check on that. Grandma Oakes died in 1950.
My mother died in New York City in January 1970, buried in Allentown. My father, Charles E. (Ernest) died in Allentown in June 1997. All four are buried in Grandview Cemetary in Allentown.

Also Grandpa Oakes was born in London, England. His twin, E.L. (Ernest Lowe) and Henry were born in England. It was his father, my great-grandfather who was born in MA, and long before 1865. My father was Charles for an uncle and Ernest for the uncle who was his father's twin. I have a small booklet which another brother of his father published, a book of poems. He was a railroad man and had time to read and to write poetry.

Jeanclaire's name is Jean Claire Oakes on her birth certificate. She has always gone by Jeanclaire--no upper case "c."

No, Claire and Peter have never married--as yet.

No, there are no grandchildren/grandneices or grandnephews as yet.

When did your grandmother come to visit my grandmother? That is news. It must have been in the late 20s or early 30s. ??

If you call 1-900-555-1212, you can ask for any number anywhere in the U.S.

Dear LoisAnn:

Thanks for the e-mail. I made you 10-years older with the slip of the finger. I have corrected it now though.

I am missing some dates on Henry & Maggie Oakes. I don't have the day of the month Henry was born & died. I also don't have their marriage date. I only have the month & year of Maggie's death. I, also. like to fill in the parents' names. I don't have the names of your mother's parents or of Albert Doerschuk's parents.

Is JeanClaire spelled this way or as Jeanclaire? Does your sister have any grandchildren? I probably should talk to her by telephone; however, I don't have her telephone number. I presume she has an unlisted number since a telephone number didn't come up on the Internet. Did their daughter, Claire, & son, Peter, marry? Before I finish this paper, I would like to find as many of the descendants of Klaas & Akke as I can.

Henry Oakes was born in May 1865, so he should show up on the 1870 census for Massachusetts. Do you know the name of his parents? I'm going to send an e-mail to the NEHGS in Boston, MA, and request a copy of the Oakes section for the 1870 census index. The National Archives Branch that we visit in Lagunal Niguel when we're visiting in S. Calif. doesn't have very many indexes. We were there in July, and they didn't have one for the 1870 Massachusetts.

I would love to have a picture of your grandparents. I remember when I was little and still living in SD we took my grandmother to Aberdeen to catch a train to Allentown. She was going to visit her sister, Maggie.

I will mail corrected copies of the family group sheets to you today. I appreciate your help in this endeavor. I really want it to be as correct as possible.

Sincerely,

Betty Leach

FOUND IN LeClaire, Iowa A mississippi River Town, by Dorothy Lage----1976

Chapter 2. Le Claire Gets its First Settlers, and Our Future State is Named.

> " We have seen nothing like this river that we enter, as regards its fertility of soil, its prairies and woods, its cattle(buffalo), elk, deer, wildcats, bustards, swans, ducks, parroquets, and even beaver." - Father Marquette's Journal

Antoine Le Claire planned a townsite on the Upper Reserve as early as March 27, 1833, several months before white men were permitted to settle there. On that day a company was formed by Mr. Le Claire, George Davenport, Enoch March, and John Reynolds. They signed an agreement reading: "..That the said Antoine Le Claire agrees to convey in fee simple to the said Davenport, March, and Reynolds forty acres each, to be taken out of a section of land at the head of the rapids, which was granted to Antoine Le Claire by the late treaty with the Sac and Fox Indians..Said quarter-section to be located so as to be most suitable for laying out a town site thereon..Said Davenport, March, and Reynolds in consideration of said land agree to pay him (A. Le Claire) $80 each one". The site of the original town of Le Claire was acquired by the company for the sum of $320, or two dollars an acre. The town was not laid out until 1836, three years later. Before 1836, however, a settlement had been made above, and one below, the prospective townsite. The village of Parkhurst came into existence while the town of Le Claire was still being planned.

The village of Port Byron, Illinois, across the river from what is now North Le Claire, was first settled in 1828. Sometime during the winter of 1833-1834 one George Harlan of Port Byron crossed the river and, entering the thickly-wooded area, hewed down trees to build a log cabin. Little is known about the man except that he was said to have been a war veteran and a county commissioner in Rock Island County. When his cabin was completed in February, 1834, he sold it and left for newer lands along the Wapsipinicon River. The man who bought the cabin was Eleazor Parkhurst. Parkhurst had come from Massachusetts in 1818. For ten years he was a shoe dealer in St. Louis. Then he moved to a farm in the Meredosia bottom lands between Rock River and the Mississippi in Illinois. He lived here until 1834. Then he crossed the Mississippi, bought the Harlan cabin, and extended his claim west and north along the river. He opened up the first farm in Le Claire Township. His farm, on Section 34, is now owned by Emil Dreschler. The stone and frame house, built in 1842, is still occupied by the owner and is in good condition.

Eleazor Parkhurst induced his brother, Sterling, to come from New York state to the new settlement. Sterling came on ahead during the summer, arranging for his wife, two sons, Whitney and Lemuel, and two daughters, Mary and Jemina, to come by covered wagon that fall. The family left Ontario County, New York on September 10th, driving a team and wagon with Lemuel in charge. They crossed the Niagara River at Lewiston, travelled through Canada by way of Windsor and reentered the United States at Detroit. They encountered bad roads, or no roads, all the way west. Between Detroit and Yipsilanti, Michigan, there was a corduroy-type road ten miles long. It was built of logs laid over swampy land. When going over this road, the wagon was in water up to the axles. Near Chicago the road was barely a track through swampland.[3] At times the horses were in water up to their bellies. From Chicago they went to Des Plaines River to Dixon, then to Cleveland, Illinois. They crossed the Rock River by ferry and arrived at Port Byron on October 6th, completing a journey of twenty-six days. Port Byron had no ferry as yet, but someone was just finishing making a flatboat. The Parkhursts helped calk and tar the flatboat, and they were the first to cross the river on it. When they landed at the cabin on the riverbank, they found that five hundred Indians were camping in the area. They had come by permission from their reservation on the Iowa River to do some hunting. In 1836 Thomas C. Eads from Dubuque purchased part of the Parkhurst claim ,and the two men jointly laid out a town in 1837. Eleazor Parkhurst applied to the United States government for a post office in 1836. The request was granted, and the post office was named Parkhurst. Some time later it was called Berlin before becoming a part of the town of Le Claire. Another Parkhurst brother, Waldo, came to the area in 1838 and was in the mercantile business for nearly forty years. A small stone building was erected for the store. The original Parkhurst cabin and the covered wagon in which they came west remained in the area until the late 1870's.

3. The writer was privileged to read an account of the journey as it was written by the late Mary Parkhurst Summers. At the time of reading, the diary was in the possession of the late Mrs. Lou Rogers of Le Claire.

party or ball there in August 1837. The building was used as a social center for many years. It remained standing until the early 1900's. Another home still used as a residence is at Walnut Street and Cody Road. The original portion of the home was built in 1839 by Eleazor Parkhurst. Later it was owned by George Tromley, Sr., a noted floating raft pilot.

Meanwhile the town planned in 1833 to be at " the Point ", Le Claire, was platted and laid out in lots by R. Shoemaker and Henry Howell. During the 1830's and 1840's boats landed at a now almost forgotten harbour directly at " the Point " or bend in the river, where the rapids began. There was no actual levee; the smaller boats were simply pulled up on shore. There was once a small crude hotel there, a town pump, a boat supply store, and, later on, several homes of pilots. This place was first known as " Long's Landing ". This was used before the town levee was established at the foot of Wisconsin Street. The three earliest rapids pilots, Martin Smith, Philip Suiter, and Peter Hall reportedly learned how to navigate the rapids from two half-breed Indian friends of Martin Smith. At the old harbour a creek came down from the western hills. It was located about where the Le Claire Bank now stands. This small creek was bridged over. Dana Dorrance, a rapids pilot, hoisted a steamboat cabin from the steamer Wild Boy over the bridge and used it as a home. The creek was diverted, and the cabin became the nucleus of a residence he built there later.

The town of Le Claire extended north only as point of Hall Creek in August 1877. The building was used as a [illegible] school for many years. It remained standing until the early 1950's. Another home still used as a residence is at Walnut Street and Cole Road. The [illegible] of [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] as were for some time operated by Viele and Nuson. The firm first operated in the late 1860's. Viele later became associated with John Deere in Moline. The Velie automobile was manufactured by this family in the early 1900's. Much fine building stone came from the Tillman and Laird quarries. The Le Claire School Building at 3rd and Ferry Streets was built of this stone in 1870. This quarry shut down for some years and then reopened when extensive highway building called for much stone and gravel, and also agricultural lime. These quarries are worked today by Le Claire Quarries, Incorporated. Another old limestone quarry was located near the riverbank on the Waldo Parkhurst property. It was east of Cody Road to the rear of where the Standard Oil Station is situated today. This stone was not suitable for building purposes but was used for burning lime in nearby lime kilns. Lime was for many years a source of wealth in Le Claire. It was used for mortar before cement was manufactured. These kilns used great quantities of timber in their operations. Besides the kilns mentioned, there were several others. Some were located on the north side of Territorial Road near the Tillman and Laird Quarries. Others were located on North 3rd Street, south of the present City Hall, along Silver Creek.

The industries mentioned furnished employment for many people before the Civil War. None of them, however, employed more persons than the boatyards. In the early 1850's Thomas Lancaster and Levi Chamberlain built a simple boat building and repair shop. Davenport and Rogers acquired the property and then greatly enlarged it in 1856. Since Le Claire was located at the head of the dangerous rapids, it was a " natural " for steamboat repair and maintenance. Several steamboats were built there after the Civil War when Samuel Van Sant perfected his raft-towing steamboat or rafter. From 1850 to 1857 Le Claire enjoyed uninterrupted prosperity. The river was the only great artery of commerce and travel. The modes of travel on the river started with the Indian canoes, then the pirogues of the fur traders. Soon came the clumsy flatboats that could travel only downstream. After that came the keelboats. The keelboat was a long, narrow craft built on a keel like an ocean-going vessel. These boats could hold tons of freight, but it took a large crew of men to row the heavy craft upstream. Sometimes the men would walk along shore towing the boat with ropes. The keelboat was contemporaneous with the oxteam in regard to speed. All of this changed rapidly after the coming of the steamboat to western waters in 1816. By 1830 eighteen steamboats had made their way past Le Claire up to Dubuque. A steamboat has been described as " just a big engine powering a raft". Of course it is not that simple, but it does convey the idea that a steamboat was long and flat-bottomed because it often had to navigate shallow streams. It was Henry Shreve who made many improvements on Fulton's model and made the craft practical for use on the more shallow western rivers. Shreve's basic design is still being used. The town of Shreveport, Louisiana is named after this inventor. During the late 1840's to the time of the Civil War steamboat traffic was enormous. A Le Claire man, Lemuel Parkhurst, worked as a clerk on steamboats during the 1850's. He mentioned in his diary that , at that time, a steamboat costing $50,000 could easily pay for itself in one season. Nearly all boats before eradication, purebred livestock, the need for farm organizations, and the improvement of homes and schools.

Every town has had pioneer residents who earned distinction by serving their own community well. Such men were Laurel Summers, Lemuel Parkhurst, Adrian Davenport, James Gamble, Daniel Dawley, and John Smith, among others. Laurel Summers came to Le Claire in 1837. He was a contractor by trade and was associated with the brick-making industry in Le Claire. He served as Territorial Legislator and later was a member of the state legislature. He married Mary Parkhurst, daughter of Sterling Parkhurst. When the small brick Baptist church was built in 1846, it is said that Laurel Summers laid the bricks while Elder Rutledge cheerfully carried the hod. Mr. Summers died in 1890.

Adrian Davenport, son of Marmaduke Davenport, moved from Credit Island to Le Claire in 1847. He had served in the Blackhawk War. As the senior member of the firm of Davenport and Rogers, he was active in many projects in developing the town. He and Rogers built up the boatyards and also several buildings in the " Davenport block ". This block had the first public hall in the town. Davenport had been the first territorial sheriff of Scott County and the first mayor of Le Claire. Several of the Davenport and Rogers projects failed in the financial panic of 1837, including their banking house. Mr. Davenport died in 1881. His brick house, built in 1847, is still occupied.

Lemuel Parkhurst, a son of Sterling Parkhurst, also served in the early legislatures at Burlington and Iowa City. He and a partner by the name of Davison ran a general store in Le Claire for seven years. He then built the Le Claire House, a hotel at Cody Road and Wisconsin Street in 1850. This building is now used as an apartment house. At one time, after the hotel had been changed to a private residence, a cache of gold nuggets, some $240 worth, was found beneath the cellar floor. In those days cellar floors were unpaved. Lemuel Parkhurst was a steam boat clerk during the 1850's and 1860's when steamboating was at its heighth. He kept a diary or personal account of his steam boat experiences. Lemuel Parkhurst died in 1903.

Captain Daniel Dawley, a well-known river man, was born in Vermont. In 1834 he came west by canal boat, stage coach, and steamboat. He was in business in Illinois for two years, then he became clerk on the steamboat Hero. Thereafter steamboating, in the capacity of clerk or captain, remained his business for thirty-eight years. He was part owner of the steamboat Golden Era. He married Sabina Carleton of Le Claire in 1841. Mr. Dawley was postmaster at Le Claire in the 1880's. Several of his sons were pilots or clerks on the Diamond Jo lines.

Dr. James Gamble was born in Ireland in 1821. His parents emigrated to America when he was a small child. In 1836 the family was located at Pittsburg, Pennsylvania where the future doctor and his two brothers learned the printing business. James Gamble moved to Warsaw, Illinois where he published a newspaper for a short time. He then studied medicine at New Orleans and later at the University of Missouri. He graduated in 1847 and came to Le Claire in July of that year. Besides practising medicine, he was a participant in many public enterprises of the town. He was active in educational endeavors and once was editor of one of the newspapers. During the Civil War he served as an school was not given. From the roster of pupils we assume that it was in the vicinity of Le Claire Center, near the later Stone School. The pupils included three boys from the Gardner family, also Jim and Ben Franks, Bill and Tom Dulin, Martha and Sammy Cody (but not William Cody), William Parkhurst, Cal Disney, Lizzie Hart, John Mortmer, and Albert and Joe Barnes. Several members of these families are buried in the nearby Fairview or Mc Ginnis Cemetery.

In his reminiscenses of early Le Claire, Mr. Barnes told how the people managed to preserve fruits for winter use. He mentioned that the Le Buhn farm, once the Davenport farm, had a great many peach trees. The trees had been planted by the pioneer Letton family. People dried many vegetables and fruits. Blackberries, dew berries, wild crabapples, wild plums, and gooseberries were plentiful. People even dried blackberries on the roofs of houses. He told of the abundant game in the timber, and how the Lancaster brothers, good hunters, shot a large bear. When Antoine Le Claire heard of this, he sent for some of the meat, as he was very fond of bear meat.

Dennis Barnes went back to river work on the steam boat Uncle Toby. His son recalled that some of the boats of the late 1850's and 1860's were the Danube, Naiad (built at Port Byron), Alhambra, Time and Tide, Minnesota, Montauk, Golden Era, Red Wing, Highland Mary, Tempest, Lady Franklin, Cora, Cora No. 2, Brazil, Uncle Toby, Bon Accord, and America. The America was the first boat on the Upper River to have a steam whistle. The whistle managed to frighten everybody, at first. The 1850's and 1860's were the time of the log raftshe was off for the war and never gave my aunt a chance to cry. Prices were twice as high as now. My aunt bought a new calico dress at the store of Mr. Waldo Parkhurst which cost thirty cents per yard. Other goods in proportion. There was no flour in town either, so she collected two bushels of high-priced wheat on the account of Mr. Milo Pollock, a prosperous farmer. She took it down to the water mill of Bob Becker, below town, and he ground it. She could not afford to lose the bran, so we had brown bread. We worked our garden ourselves and had a fine lot of vegetables for winter, with home-grown apples, plenty of pickles, canned tomatoes, dried sweet corn, dozens of eggs put up in lime water, a quarter of beef on account, with a dressed pig from somewhere. We stood the hard times and had many a basketfull for some less provident neighbors...In the Civil War hundreds of people right about us could hardly get bread. All kinds of foods were higher priced and scarce.. Men went to war and left their families almost destitute.."

As a Civil War veteran, Mr. Joseph Barnes used to tell of his experiences before school groups. He was a good singer and usually ended his talk with a song of that time, such as Johnny, Fill Up the Bowl.

" In eighteen hundred and sixty-one
The cruel war had just begun
Chorus
In eighteen hundred and sixty-two
That's the year we put 'em through
Chorus
In eighteen hundred and sixty-three
Abe Lincoln set the negroes free
Chorus
In eighteen hundred and sixty-four
We'll all go home and fight no more
Chorus
In eighteen hundred and sixty-five
The men were all at home with their wives

Chorus: And We'll all drink stone blind, so Johnny, fill up the bowl".

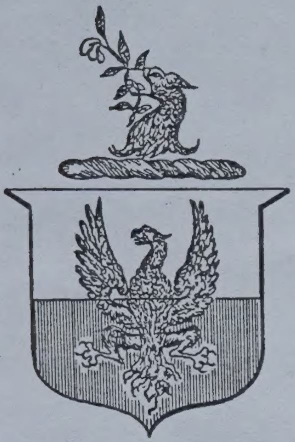
THE PEASE FAMILY



The ancient arms of Pease are here represented, having been preserved in the branch which Joseph Robinson Pease is a member, and used as a family seal for one hundred and fifty years(1869) viz: Per fesse Argent and Gules, an Eagle displayed counterchanged. Crest–An Eagle's head that the person to whom it was granted had been a commander, but not a chief.

Joseph R. Pease is successor in the bank that was established in Hull, England, in 1754 by Joseph Pease, his great-grandfather. His residence was at Hesslewood, near Hull.

PART I

EARLY HISTORY OF THE PEASE FAMILY

Great baddow, Essex County, England is the ancestrial home of John and Robert Pease, brothers who emigrated to America in April, 1634 aboard the ship Francis which sailed from Ipswich, England.

The name Pease has been common in the Eastern part of England since parish records were first kept. The English Pease, as many people in the Essex County area, are of Saxon origin having migrated to England around the year 1000. A coat of arms of the Saxon ancestors was granted during the reign of Otto II, Emperor of Germany from 972 to 981.

Great Baddow is a small town two miles from Chelmsford on the Chelmer River and thirty miles from London. Chelmsford is on the road between London and Ipswich, the most convient port of embarkation from Essex County. Great Baddow is first recorded in Saxon times although archaelogical finds provide evidence that the area has been inhabited since the stone age. In Saxon times, Great Baddow belonged to Algar, Earl of Mercia. In 1071 it was seized by William the Conqueror as a result of a Saxon rebellion. The Lordship of Great Baddow was controlled by the Crown and passed through many families. In 1736 the Viscount Fermangh sold it to Jacob Hamblon of Great Hallingbury.

Still on local maps of Great Baddow are the three manors that at one time belonged to three Pease brothers-Barnes Manor, Cutin Manor, and Pease Manor(At one time some 100 acres). These manors are supposed to be listed in the Doomesday Book, the record of a great survey of England made in 1085 by order of William the Conqueror.

The present Pease Hall was built around the 16th century on original foundation. The manor consists of five acres. The house has a tile roof, leaded windows, 17th century paneling, 18th century doors, and "modern" plumbing and wiring. The Hall has a spacious reception hall, three reception rooms, seven bedrooms, and two kitchens, There are gardens, an orchard, paddock, and a range of out buildings including a well and blacksmith forge. The present owners, Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Vigne, have lived in Pease Hall since 1939. Which Pease family built this hall is unknown.

St. Mary's Church is just across the field from Pease Hall except there is a water works now in between. It first appears on record in 1172 when Great Baddow was under Robert Earl of Gloucester. The earlist Pease record to survive at St. Mary's is the burial on 5 Apr 1540 of Joan Pease, daughter of Robert Pease. Although there are many entries between 1540 and 1634, there is not sufficient information for an accurate family pedigree. However, I will offer my version of John and Robert's ancestry.

Essex County was a hotbed of Puritanism and 266 people migrated to America between 1620 and 1650, the second highest county. About 1626, Thomas Hooker was appointed lecturer at St. Mary's Church. He was educated at Emmanuel College, Cambridge which was the center of Puritanism in England. Archbishop Laud tried to surpress these lectures and Hooker had to flee to Holland in 1630. He returned to Chelmsford and was hidden by John Cotton and Samuel Stone until the three migrated to Boston in 1633. Undoubtabely Thomas Hooker's lectures must have influenced the Pease to migrate a few months later.

PART IV

ENFIELD, CONNECTICUT

The history of Enfield is probably familiar to most of you who are Pease descendants, but for those who are not, I will give a brief outline and recommend "The Challenge of Change" published by the Enfield Historical Society or Francis O. Allen's three volume "History of Enfield" published in 1900.

William Pynchon came to America with Govenor Winthrop in 1630 and was one of the Patentees of the Massachusette Bay Company. Besides being Treasurer of the Company, Pynchon was granted a monopoly of the beaver trade. No doubt he learned of the Connecticut Valley from the Indians and a desire for profit moved him to escape the stiff-necked Puritans of Boston for better hunting grounds. By 1636 when Pynchon and eight families settled in the area now known as Springfield, MA, the Indian population had been greatly reduced by small-pox and Indian wars. Of course there would still be danger.

There were soon settlements along the Connecticut River where the Indians had cleared the land. The more heavily forrested lands such as Enfield came later. Major Pynchon, son of William, built a sawmill at Freshwater Creek in 1674 which was burned by the Indians in 1675.

On 4 Aug 1679 at the town meeting at Springfield, the settlement of Enfield was authorized and a committee was appointed to grant land to the settlers. Enfield(Endfield) was the southern limit of the territory granted to Springfield. The first grant was to John^{2}Pease and to his sons, John^{3}and Robert,^{3} whose home lots were to be 2 or 3 rods wider than the later grants because they were among the first settlers. John Pease,^{3} Jr. was a surveyor by profession. He and his brother spent the winter of 1679 at Enfield surveying and laying out the town. They brought their families in the spring of 1680. The following year, Jonathan Pease, Simeon Booth, and others arrived. Thirty families including a schoolmaster and a preacher came the following year from Salem.

On 16 May 1683, the settlers petitioned the General Court of MA to be made a town. Boston granted the petition and the name Enfield. A committee of John Pease,^{2} Sr., Isaac Meacham, and Isaac Morgan-selectmen-was choosen to grant additional allotments, layout the roads, and set apart land for church and school.

On 15 Jul 1683, John Pease, Jr. was named the first constable. He was also the first captain of the militia and the first representive to the General Court of the MA Bay Company. Enfield was in the Springfield grant because of an error in surveying the MA/CT boundary. The boundary was corrected in 1747 and Capt. Ephraim Pease was named the first representative to the CT General Assembly.

The Battle of Lexington was on Wednesday 19 Apr 1775. The news reached Isaac Kibbe's tavern on Sunday. On Monday the militia left for Boston and included: Samuel, Isaac, John, Thomas, Zebulon, Aaron, Gideon, and James Pease. Oliver, Nathaniel, and George Pease died in the Rev. War.

John Pease, Sr. and his descendants took a very active part in the founding and shaping of Enfield from the first day. Enfield Street which was surveyed by John Pease, Jr. has been nominated to the National Register of Historical Places.

John^2(Robert^1) the progenerator of the Enfield Peases was the son of Robert^1 and Marie Pease. He was born at Great Baddow, Essex County, England and baptized on 11 Feb 1631/2. He evidently came to Salem with his mother and grandmother Margaret ca 1639. The first court record of John was in the settlement of his father's estate, under the date of 27 Aug 1644. He appears to have been a favorite of his grandmother as shown by her will which was brought into court soon after action was taken in the settlement of his father's estate. It seems that he was adopted by his grandmother before his father's decease and she had full authority for placing him in the care of Thomas Watson to raise as his own child.

John^2 married, first, Mary Goodale in 1653, daughter of Robert and Catherine (Killam) Goodale of Salem. The Goodales came to America on the ship Elizabeth which sailed from Ipswich in April 1634. Mary died 5 Jan 1668/9 three days after the birth of her fifth child. John^2 married, second, Ann Cummings, daughter of Isaac and Marie Cummings of Topsfield, MA on 8 Oct 1669. It is not known when the Cummings came to America, but Isaac was made a freeman in 1642.

John settled as a farmer in that part of Salem called Northfields, a short distance from the farm of William Pynchon. John's name is found several times in the Essex and Salem records as grantee, grantor, witness, and etc. He was made a freeman 29 Apr 1668 by the General Court. He joined the First Church of Salem on 4 Jul 1667.

On 23 Jul 1680 John was granted land in Enfield. On 6 Oct 1681 John and his wife had a letter of recommendation granted to the church at Springfield. John was back in Salem on Nov 1682 to sell his property in Salem and again on Feb 1683 to give evidence in a trial involving a boundary line on land once owned by his father-in-law Goodale.

John died 8 Jul 1689, Ann died 29 Jun 1689, and Abigail died 9 Jul 1689. All three in less than two weeks probably of small-pox or such.

Children of John and Mary:

1. 1. John, b. at Salem 30 May 1654
2. 2. Robert, b. at Salem 14 May 1656
3. 3. Margaret, b. at Salem 8 Oct 1658

8. 8. Isaac, b. at Salem 15 Jul 1672

There were several Mary Pease in Salem at the same time. "The History of Salem" by Sidney Perley in 1928 states the Mary Pease, daughter of Captain John and Mary Pease, married Renalds. This history also lists the above lineage.

These identity numbers are the same as used in the 1869 edition with subscripts added when additional persons are added.

He was apprenticed at Salem to John Symonds, who was probably a carpenter and joiner. When Symonds died, he assigned his apprentice to his son James. He probably continued the occupation of his apprenticeship until moving to Enfield as evidenced by the sale of his "land, house, and shop." John also learned surveying. John and his brother Robert went to Enfield ahead of the rest of the family and spent the first winter in an excavation in the side of a hill about 40 rods from where the first meeting-house was built. In 1685, they had extra land given them because they had been the "first cummers." He was one of the most prominent men in the early history of the town of Enfield.

BRIAN PENDLETON

From Brian Pendleton and His Massachusetts

Résumé

Brian Pendleton was born in England about the year 1599, but up to this time we have not found the exact date of his arrival in Massachusetts. That he was probably one of the original settlers of Watertown is indicated by the very first entry in its records. Here, on the 14th of August, 1634, he was chosen one of three men to order the civil affairs of the town—an office which in later years came to be known as that of Selectman. Some three weeks later—3 September, 1634—he was made a freeman of the Colony.

As the work entitled Brian Pendleton and His Massachusetts gives a full account of his subsequent career, this résumé will merely list in chronological order the various activities in which he was engaged, aside from his business affairs. The record runs as follows:

30 August, 1635. Re-elected a Selectman of Watertown.
3 March, 1636. Chosen as Deputy from Watertown to the General Court of Massachusetts.
10 August, 1636. Re-elected Selectman of Watertown.
18 April, 1637. Re-elected Deputy.
One of original members of the Military Company of Massachusetts.
6 March, 1638. Re-elected Deputy.
2 May, 1638. Re-elected Deputy.
1639. One of the first settlers of Sudbury, Mass.
13 May, 1640, appointed by the General Court to drill the military company there. Re-appointed in 1643. Was a Selectman and Commissioner at Sudbury.
1646. Returned to Watertown.
26 May, 1647. Elected Deputy from Watertown to the General Court.
10 May, 1648. Re-elected Deputy. Referred to there as "Lieut. Pendleton."
1648-49. Removed to Topsfield, Mass.
1651. Removed to Portsmouth (N.H.). Appointed an Associate Justice there by the General Court of Massachusetts.
1652. Re-appointed an Associate Justice, "to continue until such time as the inhabitants should present some one else in his place." The records indicate he served in this office regularly until his removal from Portsmouth in 1665.
Elected a Selectman of Portsmouth. Chosen Commander of the "Train Band" there. Commissioner at Portsmouth "to end small causes," an office he held until 1660 at least.
Member of a commission sent by Massachusetts to bring the inhabitants of Maine under its jurisdiction.
Appointed a Justice to hold the County Court at Kittery (Maine).
1653. Re-elected Selectman of Portsmouth.
Appointed Commissioner for the Isles of Shoals to determine civil actions under £20.

Served on another "annexation commission" from Massachusetts to Maine, taking the subjection of the inhabitants there.
Elected Deputy to the General Court of Massachusetts.
1654. Selectman of Portsmouth.
Town Treasurer of Portsmouth.
Deputy to the General Court. (Referred to there as "Capt. Pendleton.")

1680. Was made Deputy President of the Province of Maine and as such presided over Courts held at Kittery in April and at Wells in June.

The death of Brian Pendleton occurred probably in the winter of 1680-1681 as his will was offered for probate on the 23rd of April in the latter year. Whether he died at Winter Harbor or at Wells, where his granddaughter, Mary lived, is unknown, but it may be considered as of some significance that two men of Wells were appointed to take the inventory of his estate. His gravestone has never been found, and according to good authority none exists in Maine dating that far back.

We are now able to supplement the data we formerly had regarding Brian Pendleton's wife and children. The registers of St. Martin's Church, Birmingham, England, finally disclosed his wife's name, Eleanor Price. Their marriage record reads as follows: "Aprell 22, 1619, Bryene Pendleton et Ellinor Prise." She died about 1688.[15]

The baptism of their first child is also recorded in the registers of this church.[16] They must have removed to London soon afterwards for we know they were living in St. Sepulchre's Parish there in 1625,[17] and their other children—with the possible exception of the youngest, Caleb, who may have been born at Watertown, Mass.—were in all likelihood born in London. Unfortunately, the registers of St. Sepulchre's Church were destroyed in the Great Fire of 1664, so we still do not know whether or not we have a complete list of all the children of Brian and Eleanor (Price) Pendleton.

As far as we have knowledge their issue was as follows:

i. Nicholas^2, bapt. 4 Dec., 1619. No further record. He prob. d. young.
2. ii. Mary, m. Rev. Seth Fletcher.
2a. iii. Joseph. The uncertainty existing as to Joseph Pendleton, set forth on pages 725-26 of the Pendleton Genealogy was cleared up by our later researches. There is no longer any doubt but that he was a son of Brian^1 Pendleton. In the first place the deed of 1629 in which "Joseph and Hannah Pendleton" sold land to Wrestling Brewster in Portsmouth, New Hampshire, was clearly proved to be fraudulent, Brewster being deceased in that year and the full date (6 December) falling on a Sunday.[18]

The name of "Joseph" Pendleton appearing in 1637 as the twenty-first signer of the original roll of the Military Company of Massachusetts—now known as the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company—was reported by Whitman, its first historian, who said the name "Joseph" was problematical. It was his guess at a name well nigh illegible on the old record, and his qualification of it seems to have been overlooked when the Genealogy was compiled some fifty years ago.

On the 14th of August, 1651, Joseph Pendleton witnessed the will of Robert Turner of Boston.[19] The following year and in 1653 two small tracts of land were given him at Portsmouth, New Hampshire, and these were turned over to James[2] Pendleton a few years later. The fact that his name does not appear in the list of those who had arrived there before 1657 is corroborative evidence that he had died in the meantime.[20] He is not mentioned in the will of Brian[1] Pendleton, nor is there any reference to a child or children he may have had. So we are safe in saying he died without issue.

3. iv. James, b. ab. 1627-28, prob. in London; m. (1) Mary Palmer; (2) Hannah Goodenow.

4. v. Caleb, m. Judith ———.

Pendleton Genealogy—Addenda—Pages 30-39

3. (Capt.) James[2] Pendleton, the only son of Major Brian Pendleton to leave descendants, was born in all likelihood in London, England, either in 1627 or 1628. From the little gift of land in Sudbury, Mass., his father made him on the 1st of July, 1648,[1] it might be assumed that this date marked his coming of age, but as he testified on the 26th of July, 1672, that he was then forty-four years old,[2] the year of his birth, if he gave his age correctly, could have been either 1627 or 1628, depending upon the month in which he was born.

Résumé

From the data given in our earlier work it is safe to assume that James Pendleton was brought to Watertown, Mass., by his parents when they settled there prior to 1634, and that he also lived with them at Sudbury, Mass., from 1639 until their return to Watertown in 1646. Whether he went back with them at that time or remained in Sudbury at least a year longer is uncertain, for his first marriage took place in that town in 1647.

He was of Watertown in October, 1650, however, for he was so named when deeding a few acres of meadow land at that time.[3] The town records there also note the birth of his son, James, a month later. Nothing more has been found relating to him up to May, 1654, when he served on a Coroner's jury in Sudbury.

His first wife died there late in the following year, and less than six months later he married the sixteen year old Hannah Goodenow, who bore him eight more children to add to the three left him by his former wife.

It was perhaps to help this marriage along or more likely as an inducement to join them in their new home at Portsmouth, New Hampshire, that his parents, under date of 22 March, 1656/57, "for the love and naturall affection they beare unto their Eldest sonne, James Pendleton," deeded him as a free gift, Brian Pendleton's homestead at Sudbury, together with various parcels of land there amounting to some one hundred and forty acres, and in addition, all the father's rights in any further divisions of the town lands.[4]

While the Portsmouth records include James Pendleton's name among the "free comers" there up to 1657, and while he was a grandjuryman in Portsmouth in 1659, and one ,of the town constables in 1661, yet there is the possibility he may have divided his time between that place and Sudbury. Because of her extreme youth, his second wife may have preferred living with her people for a time or at least going back to them when her first two children were born. Either supposition could account for their births having been entered on both the Sudbury and the Portsmouth records.[5]

James Pendleton led an active life in Portsmouth, particularly after the year 1665 when his father removed to Winter Harbor (Saco), Maine. At this time he not only succeeded to the business the elder Pendleton had built up, but also to his leadership in the civil and military affairs of the town. And he also became engaged in numerous lawsuits in trying to collect various accounts owed his father, thanks to a power of attorney the latter had given him to wind up his local affairs.[6]

During these busy years he was Town Clerk of Portsmouth in 1663 and 1664, Selectman from 1663 to 1668 inclusive, one of the Commissioners (local magistrates) to determine small actions from 1667 to 1671, and Captain of the Portsmouth military company from 1666 until 1674, the last year he lived in this old seaport on the Piscataqua.[7]

Among the items relating to him at Portsmouth we find his appointment by the General Court as a member of a Committee to select "The Convenientest place for erecting necessary fortiffication" there in May, 1666, while on the 11th of September in that year the Court admitted him to the freedom of the Commonwealth.[8]

We also find in the town records of January, 1667, that of sixty-nine acres of land then laid out to him, ten were due to Joseph Pendleton in 1652—pretty good evidence that this brother was no longer living. And there is also record there that in 1671 James Pendleton was one of nine men who entered into covenant and formed the first church of Portsmouth with Rev. Joshua Moodey, as its pastor, although Moodey had already been serving the town as its minister since Brian Pendleton brought him there in 1659.

Just why James Pendleton came to leave Portsmouth is a bit uncertain although it may have been due to his chagrin over a business reverse. As early as 1671 he had begun to dispose of some of his holdings thereabouts and in the same year mortgaged his dwelling house, shop, storehouse, wharves, a small hen house, brew house, copper coolers with all appurtenances, together with garden and pasture containing some two acres as fenced in, to the Rev. Thomas Thatcher of Boston, for £544-9-11.[9] Evidently unable to meet this debt when it came due he tendered the property to Thatcher, but no one being present to receive it, he gave Nathaniel Fryer a power of attorney to act for him. At this time—5 September, 1674—he stated rather sadly his reason for so doing—"for as much as I am now removing from home."[10]

But he did not go back to Sudbury, where he still owned the property his father had given him years before and where his wife's people still lived.[11] Perhaps he felt he would be happier in some new place, away from his in-laws. This opportunity was now afforded him, through the third large benefaction he was to receive from his father during the latter's lifetime.

The year before, as a result of a business transaction, the elder Pendleton had acquired seven hundred acres of land on the east side of the lower Pawcatuck river, running down stream from the place still called White Rock to what is now the center of the business district of Westerly, Rhode Island. At that time, however, because of the conflicting claims of Rhode Island and Connecticut, it was thought this land was included in the latter colony, as part of the town of Stonington.[12]

Only a few days before James Pendleton had turned over most of his Portsmouth property to Thatcher, he received from his father, who was then in Portsmouth, a trust deed to the seven hundred acres above mentioned, the transfer stating it was to be held intact during James' life and afterwards to be divided equally amongst his children by his second wife, except that the oldest surviving son should have a double share.[13]

Just why this most generous of fathers chose to tie a string to this final gift made his son is a bit uncertain. Perhaps he liked the old English custom of entail, particularly just at this time when James had lost his home and his warehouse on the Great Island. Nor would an entailed property be subject to attachment by creditors. And yet James was not financially ruined by any means through his Portsmouth difficulty, a difficulty brought about, if the Court records mean anything, by his inability to collect the debts due him—a trouble his father had also experienced in his dealings there. James still had property left, continued his trading operations in his new home,[14] took an active, if sometimes a contumacious part in public affairs, and was in such easy circumstances as to be referred to as "Esquire" and "Gentleman" in the Connecticut and Rhode Island records for years. It was not until late in life that he began to be called "Yeoman," by which time he had probably retired from business and devoted himself to the cultivation of some part of that thousand acre farm he had bought at Watch Hill with the help—as we now know—of his sons, Joseph and Edmund.[15]

After winding up his affairs in Portsmouth, Capt. Pendleton, presumably with his wife and most of his family, made a quick journey to Stonington where he arrived in time to be a partaker at the ordination of the Rev. James Noyes as pastor of the First (Congregational) Church there on September 10th, 1674.[16] Brought up as he had been by an ardent Puritan father, James Pendleton had no use for the "Godless" government of Rhode Island which alone of the New England colonies permitted any freedom in matters of religion. In the continual squabbles that went on for years for jurisdiction over the settlement east of the Pawcatuck, he naturally favored Connecticut, even if it was somewhat less rigid in its notions than Massachusetts, and this predilection of his eventually brought him into direct conflict with Gov. Cranston of the Rhode Island colony.

These troubles were a long way off, however. More immediate ones were at hand. The long delayed struggle with the Indians, generally known as King Philip's War, broke out in June, 1675, with an attack made by the savages on the settlers at Swansea, Mass. The tension under which the English were living during those days of blood and fire, is reflected by an entry in the Stonington records under date of 26 October, 1675, when Capt. Pendleton and several other men were chosen on a committee there "to appoint the respective garrisons."[17]

That Capt. Pendleton saw active service in this conflict is indicated by a reference to him in the Connecticut Colonial Records [II, 435] under date of 17 April, 1676, which mentions certain captives he had sold to Major Palmes.[18] More definitely, we find he drew lot 13 among those assigned by the Connecticut Legislature in 1701 to the volunteers from that Colony who had taken part in the war. Incidentally, it should be added that Capt. Pendleton's property at Sudbury, Mass., was damaged to the extent of £60 during the Indian attack upon that place, 21 April, 1676.[19]

While the war was in progress, town meetings went on just the same at Stonington. At the one held there 27 December, 1675, only eight days after the terrible battle with the Narragansetts had taken place, Capt. Pendleton was chosen one of the tax assessors of the town. On 27 December, 1677, he was chosen to act as moderator of the town meetings to be held there in the ensuing year and was also elected a Selectman, an office to which he was re-elected one year later.[20]

In May, 1679, he was accepted as a freeman of Connecticut, and the Commissioners of Stonington were directed to administer the freeman's oath to him.[21] In August, 1680, he was granted one hundred and fifty acres in Stonington[22] which he afterwards sold, and in the following November he was admitted to membership in the First (Congregational) Church of that community.[23]

During the period when Sir Edmond Andros was Governor of New York and New England—from 1686 to 1689—James Pendleton was appointed a Justice on 28 May, 1686, and on the following 18th of June he was named by the President and Council of New England in a list of Colonial dignitaries, variously referred to as "Esquires" or "Gentlemen," as a Commissioner within the Narragansett Country . . . "to settle and dispose of the affairs of that Province and the people thereof."[24] As one of these Justices, he served as a member of the Court of General Quarter Sessions and Common Pleas held at Newport in June, 1687, and at Rochester (Kingstown), Rhode Island, in March, 1687/88.[25]

It was while James Pendleton was a Town Councilman of Westerly in 1699 that he came into conflict with Governor Cranston of Rhode Island over his opposition to a tax levy on the town, an act which caused the Governor to issue an order for the arrest of Pendleton and his fellow remonstrants. This political trouble was the culmination of a long series of incidents having to do with the dispute between Rhode Island and Connecticut for jurisdiction over Westerly and will be more fully discussed in the following addenda.

The Westerly records show that Capt. James Pendleton was moderator of town meetings held there in 1707 and was chosen as first Town Councilman, 27 June, 1709. His death occurred there on the following 29th of November, and his will was recorded soon afterwards.[26]

The vital records of Sudbury, Mass., show that James² Pendleton married (1), 22 October, 1647, Mary Palmer, whose parentage has not been determined. She died at Sudbury, 7 November, 1655, and he married (2), 29 April, 1656, Hannah Goodenow, who was born in that town, 28 November, 1639, daughter of Capt. Edmund and Hannah Goodenow. She was living in Westerly, Rhode Island, as late as 1725. According to the Register [IX, 357] her father was a native of Dunhead, Wiltshire, England. He was a prominent man in Sudbury, representing the town in the General Court for several years.

The children of James² Pendleton were as follows:

By first wife, Mary Palmer:

5. James³, Jr., b. 5 Nov., 1650, Watertown, Mass. While he was mentioned in the will of his grandfather, Brian Pendleton, in 1677, no reference to him appears in his father's will. In Feby. 1698/99, his half-brother, Joseph Pendleton, sold land on the Great Island at Portsmouth, N. H., "one acre of which was given to my brother, James Pendleton, deceased."[27] It would appear from the above that James³ Pendleton, Jr., had died prob. unm. or at least without surviving issue.
6. Mary, b. prob. about 1653; m. (1), Joseph Cross; (2) Nicholas Moorey.[28]
7. Hannah, b. prob. about 1655; m. (1) John Bush; four other marriages.[29]

By second wife, Hannah Goodenow:

8. Brian, b. 23 Sept., 1659,[30] Sudbury, Mass. No record of him has been found later than 1677, when he was mentioned in his grandfather's will. As in the case of his half-brother, James[3] Pendleton, Jr., he evidently d. without issue, and prob. unm.

9. Joseph, b. 29 Dec., 1661, Sudbury, Mass., m. (1), Deborah Minor; (2), Patience Potts.
10. Edmund, b. 24 June, 1665, Portsmouth, N. H.; m. Mary _____.
11. Ann, b. 12 Nov., 1667, Portsmouth, N. H.; m. Eleazer Brown.
12. Caleb, b. 8 Aug., 1669, Portsmouth, N. H.; m. Elizabeth _____.
13. Sarah, bapt. 18 April, 1675, Stonington, Conn.; d. young in all likelihood, no further reference to her having been found.
14. Eleanor, bapt. 20 July, 1679, Stonington, Conn.; m. William Walker.
15. Dorothy, bapt. 3 Oct., 1686, Stonington, Conn.; m. Nicholas Cottrell, 3rd.

NOTE. Only two of Capt. James Pendleton's children failed to have either their births or baptisms recorded. These two, Mary and Hannah, are named in that order both in the codicil to the will of their grandfather, Major Brian Pendleton, and in the body of their father's will as well. This latter document refers to them as "my two daughters . . . that I had by my former wife"—a very helpful statement in view of the three years that elapsed between the date of his second marriage and the first fruit thereof.

There are several references in the Westerly records which name the children of Capt. James Pendleton by his wife Hannah. One of these, a deposition made in 1732, is quoted in the Pendleton Genealogy at page 36.

I.

James[2] Pendleton was only a young man during the dozen years or so he spent in Sudbury after his first marriage and naturally we would not expect to find him taking much part in town affairs. The first record we have found of him there is the deed of gift his father made him in 1648 to a tract of land as already noted. James sold this to Thomas King in the following year.[31]

A search of the original records of Sudbury revealed nothing more relating to him until the 22nd of January, 1654/55, when his name appears in a list of those who voted to approve the action of the Selectmen in a dispute concerning the "seizing" of the public commons.[32] The minority who had disapproved of the division of a two mile grant of land that had been made to the town, and "the stinting of the cow commons," petitioned the General Court for a committee to be appointed to investigate the matter. The committee made its report 14 May, 1656, and James Pendleton was among those who signed the ratification of the settlement that had been made.[33]

That he had a particular interest in this division is evident enough. The men who had founded Sudbury would naturally look for the lion's share in any future allotments of land that might be made there, and James Pendleton, as the son of one of these men and the grantee of all his rights in such divisions, would not feel well disposed toward giving up much for the benefit of the later settlers in the town. THE ENGLISH ANCESTRY

At the time the Pendleton Genealogy was published in 1911 it was thought that a clue to Brian Pendleton's English origin might be found in the statement of one Job Tookey to the effect that his grandfather, also named Job Tookey, had been a minister of St. Ives, Huntingdonshire, and was well known to Major Pendleton. It developed later, however, that the elder Tookey [or Tookie] had once held a pastorate in London, and as it was found that Pendleton was also a resident of that city the St. Ives clue looked like a false lead. Nevertheless, the late Mr. J. J. Phelps of Eccles, England, a well-known antiquarian, spent some little time in searching the parish records in that locality but found nothing whatever to indicate our emigrant ancestor had ever lived in those parts.

Meanwhile the writer had obtained the record of Brian Pendleton's marriage from Mr. J. R. Hutchinson, the English genealogist, and some years later, by having a search made of the Waters-Withington's abstracts from old English records, deposited with the Essex Institute at Salem, Mass., established the fact that Brian Pendleton and his wife, in 1625, were householders in the Parish of St. Sepulchre's-without-Newgate in London.

About the year 1914, the late Mr. Ralph H. Pendleton of Philadelphia, becoming much interested in the problem of determining Brian Pendleton's ancestry, undertook its solution with the greatest energy. In order to facilitate his researches he joined the Pennsylvania Historical Society, and for some years spent all his spare time in its library where he searched hundreds, if not thousands, of volumes dealing with old English records. He also opened up an extensive and most interesting correspondence with a number of English antiquarians and local genealogists, one of whom, the above noted Mr. J. J. Phelps, gave us a great deal of assistance. As a result of his exhaustive researches into all the available sources of information he could find in print, Mr. Pendleton, by a process of elimination, and by the knowledge that Brian Pendleton must have had a notable background, came to the conclusion that his most probable line of ancestry ran back to Thomas Pendleton of Manchester through Thomas's son, Rev. Edward Pendleton, and the latter's son, Edward Pendleton, Jr., an undergraduate of Oxford University in 1591.

Mr. Pendleton's conclusions, besides many abstracts from his records, together with what material the writer and Mr. Phelps had also gathered, were turned over in 1933 to the well-known genealogist, the late Mr. C. A. Hoppin, who spent the next two years in England looking up various ancestral lines for one of Brian Pendleton's descendants. As a result of his investigations, Mr. Hoppin stated he found proof that Edward Pendleton, Jr., was also a resident of St. Sepulchre's Parish, London, and that in his opinion, the theory reached by Mr. Ralph H. Pendleton is entirely correct. Mr. Hoppin succeeded in running back Thomas Pendleton's line for quite a few generations, but the results of his researches are not at present available.

From Mr. Ralph Pendleton's data and the writer's own collections, we have the following information regarding Brian Pendleton's probable ancestry, drawn principally from the publications of the Chetham Society, the Court Leet records of Manchester, and many other volumes dealing with the early records of Lancashire and Cheshire.[1]

Of Thomas Pendleton of Manchester, England, who was born about 1545, few facts have come to light. In an article on the Lancashire Chantries which appeared in one of the publications of the Chetham Society [Vol. LIX, p. 13], it is stated that Thomas Pendleton "holdyth one tente [tenth] ther with thapptnce [the appurtenances] rentynge yerlie each term XVj - - - S."—about 1528 to 1530. He was probably the Thomas "Pendelton" who witnessed the will of Isabel Chetham, widow of Robert Chetham in 1523.

In all likelihood his people had been established in Manchester for several generations. Various references to his son, Rev. Dr. Edward Pendleton, as mentioned in the authority above noted, speak of him as belonging to "an old and wealthy family," "an ancient Manchester family," and as "a member of an ancient and wealthy local family." A Robert "Pendylton" (as the name is often spelled in the old English records) was granted land by Henry de Trafford, Esq., in 1413, the tract adjoining the chapel of Stretford within the parish of Manchester. A Henry Pendleton held property in Salford, adjoining Manchester, in 1490, given him by Sir John Newton, priest.[2] Aside from these evidences, the fact that Thomas' brother, the Rev. Henry Pendleton, D.D., was a graduate of Oxford and one of the most famous churchmen of his time, indicates that even at that early date the family had background.

According to the Dictionary of National Biography [MacMillan & Co., New York (1895), Vol. XLIV, p. 292], Henry Pendleton entered Brasenose College, Oxford, about 1538, graduating B.A., in 1542, M.A., in 1544, and was given the degree of D.D. in 1552. He was ordained a priest at Chester in 1544. "During the reign of Henry VIII he made himself famous by preaching against Lutheranism, but on the accession of Edward VI [1547] he adopted Protestant views, and was one of the first itinerant preachers appointed by the Earl of Derby 'to preach the doctrine of the Reformation in the ignorant and popish parts of the Country.' "

Young King Edward VI died in 1553 and his half-sister, Mary, obtaining the crown, at once restored the Roman Catholic ritual in the churches. She married Philip, son of Charles V, king of Spain, and Cardinal Pole reconciled England to Rome. When the first persecutions of the Protestant clergy started under Philip and "Bloody" Mary, Pendleton soon found reason to go back to the old creed. "He received many preferments in 1554 as a reward for his conversion. . . . About the same time he became chaplain to [Bishop] Bonner and took a prominent part in disputations with Protestants who were brought before the Bishop. Pendleton won some fame as a preacher. On one occasion, while preaching at St. Paul's Cross on June 10, 1554, and making some severe strictures on the Protestants, he was shot at. He resigned the vicarage of St. Martin Outwich in 1556, when he was admitted to the living of St. Stephen's Walbrook [London]. He died in September, 1557, repenting, according to Foxe, his popish errors."

This must have been a death-bed repentance for earlier in that same year he had published in quarto and octavo "A Declaration in his Sickness of his Faith or Belief in all Points as the Catholick Church teacheth against Sclaunderous Reports against him." Pendleton was also the author of two of the homilies published by Bonner in 1555, respectively entitled "Of the Church, what it is," and "Of the Authoritie of the Church."

Halley, in his Lancashire, its Puritanism and Nonconformity [Vol. 1, p. 68], describes Pendleton as "an able man, handsome, and athletic, possessed of a fine clear voice, of ready speech, and powerful utterance; his preaching was in popularity and influence second only to that of Bradford."[3] Further on [pp. 74-75] he says "On the accession of Mary the restoration of popery in Lancashire was accomplished with no great difficulty. It was desirable to find some popular preacher who would go into Lancashire and preach the Catholic doctrine with the earnestness and power of the preachers of the Reformation.

"Of the reformers Bradford and Saunders had been committed to prison, and were ready to die rather than renounce their faith. Lever and Pilkington were in exile. There remained Dr. Pendleton who at first boasted of his determination to attest his faith by his martyrdom, yet, says Fox, 'he changed his tippet, preached popery, was sent to Manchester and other towns to recant his recantation and preach up popery.' "

Dr. Pendleton was evidently one of those controversialists who can argue both sides of a question with equal ability, and while his frequent shifts in matters of religion must have embarrassed him at times, yet he evidently felt that a live preacher was better than a dead martyr. He had no stomach for the fires of martyrdom, whether lit by Protestant or by Catholic hands. Nor did he choose to flee the country, rather than change his faith. Where the rule in those days was "Conform or perish" he chose to conform and live.[4]

If Dr. Pendleton left a will it has not been found so far. With his brother, Thomas, however we are more fortunate. The latter's will, dated 9 April, 1534, directed that his body should be buried in the parish church of Manchester, that every priest attending his funeral should have four pence, and that the choir should "be ordred after ye olde accustome." He next bequeathed "To an honest and vertuous prest [priest] for ye space of fyve yers next ensuing my dethe yerlye iiij . . . li [£4] to synge for my saule and my frends saules and to say masse ons [once] in the weke of scali celi."[5]

To his wife, Margerie, he left his house and the income from his fields during her life, she to assign the properties to such child or children as she may think "most needful and requisite." To his daughters Grace and Margerye equally "betwyxe theyme," £10 "toward theyre maryage." Wife Margerie and sons Francis and Edward to be executors. Additional bequests were made "To our ladie service," and to "ye freers observante of Newark for a trentall."[6] The witnesses to the will were Richard Bradshaw and John Dyconson, priests, Alexander Walker, and a Rauffe [Ralph] Pendleton, whom we do not identify.[7]

2. (Dr.) Edward Pendleton, D.D., son of Thomas Pendleton, matriculated at Oxford University in 1547-48,[8] and in the latter part of the reign of Henry VIII was Master of the Grammar School in Manchester, founded by Richard Bexwicke. Here he received a living and a yearly salary of £8-12-3.,[9] and maintained the views of the Church of Rome. On the accession of Edward VI, "he conformed to the alteration which took place," i.e., turned Protestant, and "became an eminent asserter and preacher of the Gospel." Later, however, as he was presented by the Catholic rulers, Philip and Mary with the vicarage of Eccles—a town close to Manchester and now one of its suburbs—it would seem his views had changed again, perhaps through the influence of his famous uncle, the Rev. Dr. Henry Pendleton. On 20 January, 1557, he gave bond to the Bishop of Chester for this vicarage, his brother Francis Pendleton, Gentleman, being his surety.

Under Queen Elizabeth he was deprived of this vicarage for a time, but in 1559, conforming once more with the Royal standard, he was again installed by the Bishop, being at that time "Grammatica Baccalaur." He became a Fellow of the Collegiate Church in Manchester in 1560. In an article on "Fellows of Manchester College," the Rev. F. R. Raines says of Dr. Edward Pendleton: "Wood calls him 'the famous schoolmaster of Manchester, in Lancashire, who was admitted at Oxford to the reading of any book of the Faculty of Grammar, and to the degree of Bachelor of Grammar, being incorporated of Oxford in 1547.' He was apparently a Fellow of Brasenose, and proceeded D.D. being named such at his death although I have not discovered where he obtained his degree."[10]

Being finally of the reformed faith Dr. Pendleton married in 1568, Ann Newton, daughter of Robert Newton. The entry of this record as it appears on the parish register of Eccles is an odd one. Under the heading of marriages in that year there is noted that of "Edward Pendlton, vicar," the bride's name being entirely omitted. The misspelling of his name indicates the vicar did not enter this record himself, and the late Mr. J. J. Phelps of Eccles, England, who examined the original entry for us, states it is in a much different handwriting than appears in the will of Rev. Edward.

This document, dated 7 June, 1576, and proved at Chester the following 18th of July, is now in the Probate Registry at Chester, and was examined by Mr. Phelps in 1924. He reported the document in a fair state of preservation although the paper was much soiled and the ink faded. The will is written "in a large and sprawling hand, the letters being carelessly formed as if written hastily." In commenting on this, Mr. Phelps wrote "It looks like the hand of a big portly man, and the phrasing that of an educated one, though not in legal style. It is probably in the handwriting of the testator."

He sent us an abstract of this will which is more nearly complete than the one which appears in the publications of the Chetham Society. [Vol. LX, p. 249]. Dr. Pendleton directed that his goods and chattels should be divided into three "equall partes," but the distribution thereof seems a bit odd—

"1st to An my wiffe
"2nd to his children Edward, Francis, Thomas and Elizabeth to be equally divided.
"3rd I give to An my wiffe my greatest pott and my Spanish cofer by license of Gilbert Gerrat, Esq. his good master my wife shall enjoie my newe house for as long as she continues in the name of my wife, and after that it is my will that my sonne Edward shall have my house, and if it [happen] that my sonne Edward depart this world then it is my mind that my house go to my sonne Francis."

As a memorandum he noted that Mr. Nutter, his executor, should have all his books, or library, for 20 marks if he would keep one of the testator's sons "at learning," but in a second memorandum he modified this stipulation somewhat stating that Nutter could have the library as above "if he would be good to hys Godson, one of Testator's sonns."

The executors named were "my deare ffrende Mr. Nutter, parson of Sefton,[11] and my trustie and natural brother George Pendleton and An my wife." Ellis Heye, Robert Newton, "my father in lawe," and "my cousin & nevy" Henry Pendleton were to be supervisors.[12]

His widow soon married another man of the cloth, Thomas Warburton, parson of Warburton, Cheshire, whose will dated in 1597, and proved by her in that year, named her son Francis Pendleton as one of the legatees.

The Eccles Parish Register gives the following baptismal records of the children of Rev. Edward and Ann (Newton) Pendleton:

3. i. Edward, Jr., bapt. 6 March, 1569[70].

ii. Francis, bapt. 20 Aug., 1571; went to London, m. Frances, dau. of Michael Gregg, and became wealthy. His twenty-three page will on file in the Principal Probate Registry, London, was examined by Mr. Phelps. Among other legatees the testator mentioned his wife Frances, sister Elizabeth, sons Michael and Richard, and uncle Humphrey Newton, of Eccles. The first born son, Nicholas, who was bapt. 28 June, 1620, according to the records of St. Peter's Parish, London, evidently died young as he is not mentioned in this will.

iii. Thomas bapt. — Mch., 1572[73]. He was probably the Thomas Pendleton who was buried at Eccles, 6 Dec. 1597, although a man of the same name married Anne Winstandley at Walton on the Hill, 17 May, 1598.

iv. Elizabeth, bapt. 1 May, 1576. The will of her brother, Francis Pendleton (1624), indicates she was married twice, (1), to Philip Udall, and (2), to Alexander Baggaley.

3. Edward Pendleton, (Jr.), baptized at Eccles, 6 March, 1569-[70], oldest son of Rev. Edward Pendleton, was probably that godson of Rev. John Nutter referred to—but not named—in his father's will. Nutter was first requested to bring him up "to learning," but in a later memorandum, merely to "be good to his Godson." The Rev. Nutter afterwards became Dean of the Chester Cathedral and acquired much wealth. He evidently carried out the request of his deceased friend for the name of Edward Pendleton, Jr., of Eccles, appears in a list of students at the King's Grammar School of Chester as a lad of 13.[13]

In view of both his father and his great-uncle, Rev. Henry Pendleton, D.D., having been Oxford men, and considering also the request made of Nutter to bring up his godson "to learning," it seems entirely likely that the Edward Pendleton "of Lancashire" who matriculated at Lincoln College, Oxford, 22 October, 1591,[14] was our Edward Pendleton, Jr., destined for a church career. His age as given in this record, however—19 years—is two years short of Edward, Jr.'s correct age at that time. As we do not know of any other Edward Pendleton of Lancashire at this period who could have entered Oxford, we may account for this discrepancy in years by assuming that Edward, Jr., did not like to admit he had reached the ripe old age of 21 when he entered college, and so reduced his age accordingly.

No record of his graduation has been found, and nothing further is known of him until his appearance in St. Sepulchre's Parish, London, where Brian Pendleton was living in 1625.

So far, neither the will nor administration on the estate of Edward Pendleton, Jr., has been found, and as the early records of St. Sepulchre's Church were destroyed in the Great Fire of London in 1666, we lack direct evidence as to his marriage or children.

From circumstantial evidences, however, there can be little doubt but that he was the father of Brian Pendleton, born about 1599, who married Eleanor Price and emigrated to Massachusetts prior to 1634.

The name "Brian" was of peculiar interest to Mr. Phelps. It had never appeared in the Pendleton family before—but, he found it was not uncommon as a Christian name in Southwestern Lancashire. Possibly it was the first name of Brian Pendleton's maternal grandfather —or uncle. Mr. Phelps thought as Edward Pendleton (Jr.) was not according to the records of St. Peter's Parish, London, evidently died young as he is not mentioned in the will.

10. Thomas bapt. ... 1578(79). He was probably the Thomas Pendleton who was buried at Ewelme, 8 Dec. 1587, although a man of the same name married Anne Wennersley at Walton on the Hill, 17 May, 1596.

11. Elizabeth, bapt. 1 May, 1576. The will of her brother, Francis Pendleton (1595), indicates she was married twice, (1), to Philip Udall, and (2), to Alexander Bargrave.

6. Edward Pendleton, (Jr.), baptised at Ewelme, 3 March, 1580-1, whose son of Rev. Edward Pendleton, was probably the godson of Rev. John Nutter referred to—but not named—in his father's will. Nutter was first requested to bring him up "in learning," but in a later memorandum merely to "be good to his Godson." The Rev. Nutter afterwards became Dean of the Chester Cathedral and acquired much wealth. He evidently carried out the request of his deceased friend for the name of Edward Pendleton, Jr., "Rector," appears in a list of students at the King's Grammar School of Chester as a lad of 12.

In view of both his father and his great-uncle, Rev. Henry Pendleton, D.D., having been Oxford men, and considering also the request made of Nutter to bring up his godson "in learning," it seems entirely likely that the Edward Pendleton "of Lancashire" who matriculated at Lincoln College, Oxford, 21 October, 1597, was our Edward Pendleton, Jr., destined for a church career. His age is given in this record, however, as 20—some two years older than Edward. It is ... age at that time. As we do not know of any other Edward Pendleton of Lancashire at this period who could have entered Oxford, we may account for this discrepancy in years by assuming that Edward, Jr., did not like to admit he had reached the ripe old age of 18 when he entered college, and so reduced his age accordingly.

No record of his graduation has been found, and nothing further is known of him until his appearance in St. Sepulchre's Parish, London, where Bryan Pendleton was living at birth.

As yet, neither the will nor administration on the estate of Edward Pendleton, Jr., has been found, and as the early records of St. Sepulchre's Church were destroyed in the Great Fire of London in 1666, we lack direct evidence as to his marriage or children.

From circumstantial evidence, however, there can be little doubt but that he was the father of Bryan Pendleton, born about 1599, who married Eleanor Price and emigrated to Massachusetts prior to 1634.

The name "Bryan" was of peculiar interest to Mr. Taylor, as it has never appeared in the Pendleton family before. ... he found it was not uncommon in Lancashire, ... Manchester, Lancashire. Possibly it was the first name of Bryan Pendleton's maternal grandfather—we know. The [illegible] brought to Edward Pendleton, (Jr.) was ...

graduated from Oxford he may have served as a curate in some little church in the southwestern part of Lancashire County, married there, and had his son Brian. As Nutter had had livings at Sefton, Aughton, Bebington and Walton-on-the-Hill, Mr. Phelps first turned his inquiries there. The parish registers of the two latter towns had already been published, but revealed nothing. He made a personal search of the unpublished ones at Aughton and Sefton but was again disappointed. At Childwall—where by the way the verger of the church was Mr. William Alexander Pendleton-Meadows—Mr. Phelps found the marriage records of eleven Pendleton men from 1562-1599 and some few christenings, but not the ones he sought.

At Huyton, whose parish registers had also not been published up to 1925, Mr. Phelps found reference to a Dominus Humphrey Pendleton in 1547, mentioned in the Piccope Manuscripts in the Manchester Library [Vol. XIII, p. 159], and upon making a search of the old Parish Registers of the town he came across the names of some early Pendletons, but neither Edward's nor Brian's. Mr. Phelps was still of the opinion that a search of all the unpublished parish registers in that section of Lancashire—the published ones having been examined without result—might give us the very records we want, but his untimely death put an end to the undertaking.

There is of course the possibility that Edward Pendleton, Jr., instead of entering the ministry, may have gone to London and engaged in business with his brother Francis who prospered there, but all we know of him in that city is the mere fact, according to Mr. Hoppin, that he was a resident of St. Sepulchre's Parish without Newgate, just as Brian Pendleton was.

It is to be hoped that sometime direct evidence will be found of the relationship between Edward Pendleton, Jr., and Brian Pendleton which will confirm the circumstantial evidence we have at present.

More than a hundred acres was a labyrinth of bog and quagmire, and the balance required the most careful drainage to become capable of tillage. Now every acre of the eight hundred included in this domain is under profitable cultivation, and the land reclaimed from the forest and prairie is a luxuriant garden of unsurpassed fertility. Mr. Budlong has proved himself a master indeed of a science which, with the increasing value of land, is becoming of more and more importance in the economy of the present day. In the promotion of his own interests he has done just as much for others engaged along similar lines, branching out into untried fields and experimenting along little known channels until he gained definite information of the greatest value to the trade generally. His faculty for attending to details, marked executive ability, and power of concentration to whatever he has in hand, have been very vital factors in his success. Moreover, in spite of the incessant cares attendant upon the conduct of a large business, he has retained a pleasant personality, which has won him many friends among those with whom he has had business or social relations. His humblest employe receives the same consideration that he would extend to a friend, and his intercourse with his fellowmen in every walk of life has always been pleasant and kindly. He is thoroughly well read upon questions of current interest, as well as in the line to which his chief energies have been devoted. All his life he has shown the rare combination of the qualities of student and practical man of business which have carried him to the pinnacle of success.

Mr. Budlong was originally a Democrat in politics, but since 1860 he has been an ardent Republican. He has been active in the civil administration of his adopted community and in the promotion of local improvements. Upon the organization of the village of Jefferson he was elected a member of the board of trustees, and has since served several times in that office; he was the first mayor of the village, and served as school director twenty-eight consecutive years, until the village was merged into the city of Chicago. He is a prominent Freemason, a charter member of Providence Lodge, No. 711, A. F. & A. M., of Jefferson, which he served many years as worshipful master; a member of Corinthian Chapter, R. A. M.; Apollo Commandery, K. T., and Oriental Consistory, of Chicago.

On Oct. 6, 1856, Mr. Budlong married Miss Louise L. Newton, of Norwich, Vt., who was born in Norwich, Jan. 1, 1833, daughter of George and Orella (Snow) Newton, also natives of Vermont, and granddaughter of Dr. Israel Newton, who served through the Revolutionary war. To George and Orella (Snow) Newton were born two sons and four daughters, as follows: Cyril C. (now deceased), who married Rebecca McConachie, by whom he had three children, Emily, George and Mary; Louise L., Mrs. Lyman A. Budlong; Lucy Amelia, widow of Mr. Lewis Wilson; Mary A., widow of Orlando Talcott; Ellen E., wife of W. N. Spring, of LeMars, Iowa; and George P., now deceased.

To Mr. and Mrs. Budlong were born five children, namely: (1) Mary L. became the wife of A. L. Jones, of Mokena, Ill., and to them were born three children: Helen L., wife of Paul A. Shares, of New Haven, Conn., who has one child, Pauline; Lyman B., who married Genevieve Lowell, of Chicago, and has two children, Albert L. and Helen L.; and Viola M. (2) Edward L. married Margaret Snow, of Rockford, Ill., and to them were born nine children, Edward H., Estelle M., Evelyn L., James N., Dudley W., Naomi J., Harry S., Lyman A. and Simeon. (3) Lyman A. is deceased. (4) Joseph J. married Louise Klemme, of Joliet, by whom he had two children, Mary L. and Helen H. After her death he married Irene Heaney, of Chicago, and they have also had two children, Joseph L. and Thomas H. (5) Laura W. is the wife of H. H. Chester, of Evanston, Ill., and has had three children, Ruth B., Grace H. and Margaret N. All of Mr. Budlong's children reside near the parental home. Mrs. Budlong passed away March 25, 1905, leaving a large circle of friends, by whom she was much beloved and sadly missed. She was a very active worker in the Bowmanville Congregational Church from the time of its organization.

Mr. Budlong is passing his declinig years in the beautiful home where he has been located during his long residence in Cook county, a home which in all its details gives evidence of the tastes of the owner. He carries his years well, and though verging on four-score is vigorous and active, with unabated interest in life and work.

PIERCE. The Pierce family of Rhode Island has long been prominent in business, religious and public affairs. Not the least prominent were the sons of the late Rev. Waterman Pierce, who was himself a representative of the seventh generation of the family in this country, [illegible] being from (I) Michael, the emigrant [illegible], through (II) Ephraim, (III) Ephraim ([illegible]) Deacon Mial, (V) Rev. Nathan, (VI) Isaac Pierce.

(VII) Rev. Waterman Pierce, son of Isaac, born Dec. 24, 1801, in Rehoboth, Mass., married June 15, 1820, Betsey Baker, born March 8, 1801, and they resided in East Providence, R. I. Their children were: Bradford B., born Nov. 7, 1821, married Martha K. Brown and Susan Shelley; Sarah F., born July 25, 1826, married Sept. 11, 1853, Gilbert M. Horton; Elisha W., born Jan. 22, 1829, married Elizabeth W. Barney; Mary E., born April 27, 1831; Maria B., born Feb. 1, 1835, married Oct. 2, 1859, Samuel S. Barney; George L., born Sept. 9, 1837; Julia E., born Nov. 16, 1839, married Aug. 6, 1863, Dexter West; Mercy A., born July 14, 1842, married June 17, 1864, Burden Monroe; and Richmond, born July 2, 1847, died March 13, 1848.

Captain James Pendleton married second Hannah Goodenow.
Their children were Brian, Joseph, Edmund, Ann, Caleb, Sarah, Eleanor, DOROTHY, Patience.

In his political preferment Mr. Nichols is a Republican, but in no sense of the word is he a politician. He and his family belong to the Cranston Street Baptist Church. He is a member of Washington Lodge, A. F. & A. M., and Beacon Lodge, I. O. O. F., at Wickford, Rhode Island.

On June 16, 1870, Mr. Nichols married Arabella R. Rodman, born Aug. 16, 1847, daughter of Daniel Rodman, and a descendant from John Rodman, the emigrant settler, through Thomas, Thomas (2), Samuel, Robert, Clark, Daniel and Daniel. Three children came to bless this union: (1) Albert Rodman, born May 11, 1871, graduated from Brown University, class of 1896, and is now a resident of Washington, D. C., where he has an important position in the Congressional Library; on Jan. 2, 1890, he married Susan A. Tillinghast. (2) George Brown, born April 1, 1879, was formerly an electrical engineer with the New York & New Jersey Telephone Company, and is now electrical engineer in charge of work on the schoolhouses of New York City and Brooklyn, where he resides. On Nov. 6, 1905, he married Minnie Ethel Harrison. (3) Maud Bixby, born Nov. 30, 1884, is a student at Brown University.

PENDLETON (Line of Capt. Benjamin). The old Stonington, Conn., Pendleton family has had a long and honorable identity of close to two and three-quarters centuries with New England history, during which period it has given to this country a number of men conspicuous in American annals. This article is to deal only and briefly, however, with the family and lineage of the late Capt. William Champlin Pendleton, of Westerly, some of whose posterity are still active and prominent in the business and social life of that town.

From Major Brian Pendleton, the immigrant settler and progenitor of the Stonington, Conn., and Westerly, R. I., Pendletons, the lineage of the late Capt. William Champlin Pendleton is through Capt. James, Joseph, Col. William, Capt. Benjamin and Capt. David Pendleton.

(I) Major Brian Pendleton, born in 1599, in England, came to the American Colonies and settled first at Watertown, Mass., where he was made a freeman Sept. 2, 1634, and was Deputy to the General Court for six years. He removed to Sudbury and assisted in settling that town, and was a selectman for several years. From Sudbury he went to Ipswich. He was a member of the famous artillery company of Boston. He removed to Portsmouth, N. H., about 1651, and was Deputy there for about five years. In 1663 he purchased 200 acres of land near Winter Harbor, Saco, Maine, and after a few years he returned to Portsmouth, and there made his will which was proved April 5, 1681. Major Pendleton was an eminent man of his day. He held important civil and military offices, was a captain and also major in the militia. His wife, Eleanor, died in 1681, leaving two children, Mary and Capt. James.

(II) Capt. James Pendleton was first at Watertown and then at Sudbury, Mass., and came to Westerly, R. I., in 1669. He was admitted to the First Church at Stonington, Conn., Nov. 7, 1680. The Christian name of his first wife was Mary. She died Nov. 7, 1655, and he married (second) April 29, 1656, Hannah, daughter of Edmund Goodenow. The children born to the first marriage were: James, Mary and Hannah; and those to the second: Brian, Joseph, Edmund, Ann, Caleb, Sarah, Eleanor, Dorothy and Patience. Capt. Pendleton died Nov. 29, 1709.

(III) Joseph Pendleton, born Dec. 29, 1661, married (first) July 8, 1696, Deborah Miner, born April 15, 1677, daughter of Ephraim and Hannah (Avery) Miner. She died Sept. 8, 1697, and he married (second), Dec. 11, 1700, Patience, daughter of William Potts, of New London, Conn. One child, Deborah, was born to the first marriage; and Joseph, William and Joshua to the second.

(IV) Col. William Pendleton, born March 23, 1704, married March 10, 1726, Lydia Burrows, born April 19, 1703, daughter of John and Lydia (Hubbard) Burrows, and their children were: William, Amos, Freelove, Peleg, John, Benjamin, Lydia, Joshua and Ephraim. The mother of these died Aug. 18, 1750, and the father married (second) April 25, 1751, Mrs. Mary Chesebrough, daughter of John and Lucia (Stanton) McDowell, and their children were: Lucy, Nathan, Isaac and Keturah. The father is said to have served as colonel of militia during the Revolution.

(V) Capt. Benjamin Pendleton, born Sept. 18, 1738, married Feb. 9, 1763, Lois Burdick, born April 1, 1738, daughter of David and Mary (Thompson) Burdick, of Pawcatuck. Capt. Pendleton was for many years a sea captain, sailing from Westerly, R. I. . His children were: Benjamin, born Feb. 7, 1764; Lois, March 8, 1766; Lydia, March 7, 1768; David, May 13, 1770; Paul, May 4, 1772; Lebbeus, Feb. 15, 1774; Christopher, Sept. 18, 1776; Jabez C., May 21, 1778; and Susanna, July 25, 1783.

(VI) Capt. David Pendleton, born May 13, 1770, married Feb. 13, 1792, Sally, daughter of Simeon Pendleton. Capt. Pendleton was for fifty years a ship owner and sea captain. His children were: David, born Aug. 19, 1793; Mercy, Dec. 31, 1795; William Champlin, Nov. 2, 1798; Polly, July 14, 1802; and Ethan, Oct. 24, 1804. Capt. Pendleton died March 10, 1857, and his wife April 4, 1854.

(VII) Capt. William Champlin Pendleton, who died at his residence in Westerly, Wednesday morning, Dec. 22, 1886, passed the entire period of his useful life in this community. With faculties unimpaired until the very last, and far beyond the allotted span of life, he had been permitted by 1670, Abraham Adams. Samuel, Newbury, s. of the preced. m. 16 Feb. 1674, Sarah Poor, perhaps d. of John, had Samuel, b. 3 Feb. 1676; Richard, 26 Aug. 1677, d. soon; Richard, again, 24 Jan. 1679; John, 20 Sept. 1680; Mary and Sarah, tw. 20 Jan. 1686; Joanna, 10 Feb. 1689; and Benjamin, 18 Dec. 1692.

Pettes, or Pettit, Gilbert, Salem 1668. John, Roxbury 1639, of wh. Mr. Ellis in his Hist. says nothing, but the name occurs, yet with fam. of sev. heads, rem. prob. to Stamford, or Long Island, where I find at Newtown, Thomas in 1660; Nathaniel, 1667; and John, in 1686. Yet it may well be that his s. John, wh. m. Sarah, d. of Daniel Scofield, was of Stamford 1669. Thomas, Exeter 1639, a signer of the orig. combina. in 1647 was the chief milit. man.

Petts, John, a soldier k. by the Ind. 19 Oct. 1675, at Hatfield.

Petty, or Pettee, John, Springfield, had liv. at Windsor, but m. at Boston 30 Mar. 1662, Ann Canning, had at W. James, b. same yr.; and at S. Hannah, 1666, d. soon; John, 1667; Mary, 1670; Joseph, 1672; Ann, 1675; and Ebenezer, 1678; and d. 8 Mar. 1680. His wid. m. Samuel Owen. James and John ea. had fams. at S. Joseph, Deerfield, s. of the preced. was with w. tak. by the Ind. and Fr. 29 Feb. 1704, carr. to Canada, safe got back next yr. and sett. at Northfield, where the name is bec. very common. Peter, sail. from Salem on fishing voyage, k. by the Ind. in the autumn of 1677. Felt II. 213. Peter, Haverhill 1680. Mirick, 85. It may be the same name as Pattee, wh. is seen in New Hampsh.

Petygood, or Petgood, Peter, Marblehead 1641. Richard, Ipswich 1641.

Peverly, John, Portsmouth, one of the men sent over, 1631, by Mason, the Patentee. Thomas, Portsmouth, perhaps s. of the preced. d. aft. 1670, leav. by w. wh. may have been a d. of Thomas Walford, s. John, Thomas, Lazarus, Samuel, and Jeremiah.

Phelps, Abraham, Windsor, s. of George, liv. with his uncle, Abraham Randall, wh. had no ch. and gave him his est. was freem. 1668, m. 6 July 1665, Mary, d. of Humphrey Pinney, had Abraham, b. 6 Mar. 1666; Isaac, 5 Aug. 1673; Benjamin, 1 Oct. 1683; and perhaps others; his w. d. 2 July 1725, aged above 81; and he d. 28 Jan. 1728, aged 85. Christopher, Salem, m. 9 July 1658, Eliz. Sharp, and I kn. no more, but that he sign. petitn. against imposts 1668. Edward, Newbury, rem. to Andover, by w. Eliz. d. of Robert Adams, had, beside others, John, b. at N. 15 Dec. 1657, wh. was k. by the Ind. on serv. at Scarborough, 29 June 1677; and he d. 3 Oct. 1689. Edward, Andover, prob. s. of the preced. m. 9 Mar. 1682, Ruth Andrews, had prob. others beside Edward and Bathsheba, wh. d. 24 Feb. 1694; and Eliz. b. 27 Jan. 1690; rem. to Lancaster, and d. 30 Nov. of uncert. yr. and there Eliz. m. Samuel Willard of L. Ephraim, Simsbury, s. of Edward, m. 11 or 21 May 1691, Mary Jaggers, and d. 1697. George, Dorchester, freem. 6 May 1635, rem. with Warham to Windsor, by first w. said to be nam. Philbury, d. of Philip Randall, wh. d. 29 Apr. 1648, had Isaac, b. 20 Aug. 1638; Abraham, 22 Jan. 1643; and Joseph, 24 June 1647, wh. d. soon, as did Abraham in the same yr. He m. 2, or as ano. acco. is, 30 Nov. 1648, Frances, wh. had been wid. Clark, and then was wid. of Thomas Dewey, and had Jacob, 7 Feb. 1650; John, 15 Feb. 1652; and Nathaniel, 7 Dec. 1653; rem. to Westfield, there had more ch. and d. 8 May 1687, but Stiles in Hist. 743, says 9 July 1678. Six s. were then liv. no d. is nam. His wid. d. 27 Sept. 1690. Henry, Salem, from London, came in the Hercules 1634, m. 1652, Hannah Bassett, but as sec. w. in my opin. for there is some prob. that he had m. a d. of Thomas Tresler, by wh. he had s. John, rememb. in the will of his gr.mo. Perhaps he was a Quaker, at least, Felt II. 582 tells how Hannah P. in Oct. 1659, was admonish. But she may have been w. of Nicholas P. Isaac, Windsor, eldest s. of George of the same, m. 11 May 1663, or 11 Mar. 1664 (Parsons gives both dates only six lines apart in Geneal. Reg. V. 369, so that it is quite doubtful wh. day we should prefer, but Stiles takes the earlier), Ann, d. of the sec. William Gaylord, had Isaac, b. 18 Sept. 1666, wh. had 3 ch. yet d. at 32 yrs.; Sarah, bapt. 4 July 1670; and rem. to Westfield, there was freem. 1671, had John, b. 27 Dec. 1672, bapt. 29 June 1673; Hannah, 5 Nov. 1674; Hezekiah, 9 July 1677; Joseph, 28 Nov. 1679; Noah, 14 Oct. 1684; and Ebenezer, 6 June 1687; beside Daniel, and ano. both d. young. His w. d. Sept. 1690, and he d. 8 May 1687, or 21 Sept. 1725. Why so gr. interval betw. var. dates is seen, I have no explanat. Jacob, Westfield, br. of the preced. m. 2 May 1672, Dorothy, sec. d. of John Ingersoll, had Dorothy, b. as one tells, 18 Oct. but Goodwin says Dec. 1673, d. in few wks.; Dorothy, again, 10 May 1675; Hannah, 26 Nov. 1677; Israel, 3 Apr. 1681; Benjamin, 8 Jan. 1684; Joseph, 5 Aug. 1686; and Jedediah, 7 Dec. 1688; and d. 6 Oct. 1689. His wid. m. a Root. James, Boston 1657. John, Charlestown, by w. Catharine had Catharine, b. 8 May 1659, says the Middlesex rec. and the same authty. adds that Catharine Phelps, d. 19 June foll. But I find no Phelps in Charlestown, for a long time bef. or aft. and John Phillips at that time had w. Catharine wh. may have had that ch. In some rec. the name is plain Philps, and this shows how easily one may be converted to the other. John, Salem, perhaps s. of Henry, by w. Abigail had Abigail, b. 21 Apr. 1669; John, 6 Feb. 1671; Henry, 3 Apr. 1673; Joseph, 7 Dec. 1675; Abigail, 7 Jan. 1678; Samuel, 6 Jan. 1680; and Hannah, 12 Apr. 1683. John, Windsor, br. of Putnam, prob. d. of John. Joseph, Windsor, s. of William, perhaps b. in Eng. freem. 1664, m. 20 Sept. 1660, Hannah Newton, not d. of Rev. Roger, nor prob. of any man on our side of the water, but sis. of Joan, it is said, wh. m. Benedict Alvord, had Joseph, b. 27 Aug. 1667; Hannah, 2 Feb. 1669; rem. to Simsbury, there had Timothy, Sarah, and William, in 1676 m. sec. w. He m. again, 6 Nov. 1699, Sarah, d. of the first John Case, had Sarah, b. 11 Aug. 1700, d. bef. 14 yrs.; and Damaris, 5 Mar. 1702. This w. d. 2 May 1704; and he d. 20 Jan. 1750. Josiah, Simsbury, youngest ch. of Samuel of the same, m. 26 Apr. 1690, Sarah Winchell, Nathaniel, Northampton, s. of William, b. in Eng. had liv. at Windsor, m. 17 Sept. 1650, wid. Eliz. Copley, had Mary, b. 21 June 1651; Nathaniel, 2 Apr. 1653; Abigail, 5 Apr. 1655; all b. at W. but at N. had William, 22 June 1657; and Mercy, 1662; was freem. 1681, a deac. and d. 27 May 1702; and his wid. d. 6 Dec. 1712. Mary, m. 1670, Matthew Clesson, and Abigail, wh. m. John Alvord, d. 26 Aug. 1756, therefore, allow. for the correct. of old style 4 yrs. bef. aged 101 yrs. 4 mos. and ten days, the oldest person that ever d. at N. Nathaniel, Northampton s. of the preced. m. 1676, Grace Martin, had Grace, b. 11 Nov. 1676, wh. d. soon; Nathaniel, 1 Nov. 1678, d. at 12 yrs.; Samuel, 9 Dec. 1680; Lydia, 7 Jan. 1683; Grace, again, 10 Nov. 1685; Eliz. 19 Feb. 1688; Abigail, 3 Nov. 1690; Nathaniel, again, 13 Feb. 1693; Sarah, 8 May 1695; and Timothy, 1697. A well deriv. tradit. a. the mo. of these ch. is worth insert. Her lover in Eng. was false and m. ano. She left her native ld. came to our country to relatives, the respectab. fam. of Marsh of Hadley, but in ignor. of their resid. or want of funds or both, on reach. Boston, was in danger of being sold for her passage, bef. relief came from her friends. One version of the story goes further, that she was sold; but it is good eno. without this. Descend. are very num. among wh. was my disting. antiquar. friend, Sylvester Judd. Nathaniel, Westfield, s.

Frances married as her third husband George Phelps.

Little is known of RICHARD PHELPS, who has been called a brother of William Phelps, bapt. Dec. 26, 1609;[30] also a son of William Phelps, bapt. Dec. 26, 1619.[31] It is also said of him that "he embarked for the island of Barbadoes, May 2, 1635, and nothing more was heard of him." Hotten gives his age in 1635, as 17. However the part that is hard to explain is the entry in the early records of Dorchester, which in 1633 refers to the "House" of Richard Phelps. It seems strange if he were a son of William, born in 1619, that as a boy of fourteen he had a house of his own. Also if he was born in 1619, William Phelps himself would have been but twenty, and this would not make Richard 17 years old in 1635.

The Dorchester records read as follows:

> Anno April 3, 1633. It is agreed that a doble raylé with mortesses in the posts of 10 foote distance one from the other, shall be set up in the Marish, from the corner of RICHARD PHELPS, his pale Eastward to the Creeke, by the owners of the cows undernamed, p'portionatly, 20 foote to every cowe.[32]

WILLIAM PHELPS, with his brothers George and Richard, his wife and five children, came to America in 1630 on the "Mary and John." Their ancestry is as follows:

A James Phelps, b. 1520, m. Joan.

William Phelps, 2nd, was baptized in the Tewkesbury Church, Aug. 19, 1599, and died at Windsor, July 14, 1672. He made application as a freeman with the first group, Oct. 19, 1630; was on jury duty, Nov. 9, 1630; constable, 1631; Deputy, 1634-35; Magistrate from 1639 to 1649. He presided at Court in Windsor, May 1, 1637, when it was ordered that there "shall be an offensive war against the Pequots."[33]

A man of property, he subscribed to the fund for the poor. Not being able to prove title and payment for land bought of the Indian, Sehat, he paid for it a second time. The paper describing the transaction is dated March 31, 1665.

> These presents testify, whereas there was a parcel of land purchased formerly by William Phelps, living at Windsor about 30 years since, of Sehat, an Indian, a Paquanick Sachem, and I (Phelps) not being able to prove payment of the said purchase, in consideration whereof I now engage to make up the full payment by paying to the said Sehat's kinsman Nassahegan, Sachem of Paquanick, 4 trucking coats, or what upon agreement shall satisfy them to the value thereof.

Elizabeth, the first wife of William Phelps, died at Dorchester, in 1635, and he married a second time, in 1638, Mary Dover, who had also been a passenger on the "Mary and John." Mary Phelps died in 1675.

Grace Martin was a lady who was "disappointed of a lover" in England, and to cover her dismay decided to get to America by hook or crook, in order to reach friends in Boston. She managed to get passage on a boat by telling the captain that her friends would pay her passage, but on arriving in Boston her friends could not be found, and she was ordered to be sold as a slave to pay her passage. Stiles tells us that there are some records that she was actually sold, but he appears to doubt it. The story of how she met and married Nathaniel Phelps has not been told.

Phelps, Judge Oliver Seymour, The Phelps Family, Eagle Publishing Co., Pittsfield, Mass., 1899.

HUMPHREY PINNEY was born in co. Somerset, England; the son of John Pinney and his wife Johanna. He was one of at least seven sons and four daughters, and in his father's will was mentioned last, being presumably the youngest. He was named executor of his uncle Edmond Pinney's will, and it is believed that he returned to England temporarily to settle this estate. In 23 Nathaniel Phelps b. England about 1627, emigrated to New England with his father, settling in Dorchester, Mass., with his father, removing to Windsor, Ct, in

Phelps

1635-6, where he m. Elizabeth Copley, 17th Sept., 1650 She was an English lady.

Says the Hon. James H. Phelps of Townshend, Vt., a descendant of this family: "A descendant of the family of Elizabeth Copley, in England was the celebrated artist, John Copley, father of Lord Lyndhurst, who on the 30th of April, 1827, became Lord Chancellor of England." Lord Lyndhurst appears to have no knowledge of this connection, as may be seen from his letter herewith attached. As this connection must be traced back over two hundred years, there is no reason to doubt the same. Mrs. Phelps died in Northampton, Mass., 6th Dec., 1712, some ten years after her husband. Her will probated in Northampton, Vol. II, 1678-1716. Reference is made to her sons Nathaniel and William Phelps, who are to have the land her husband left her, to be divided equally between them. Her homestead also to be divided between them, Nathaniel to have the side he lives in, and William the other side. To Abigal 50 pounds; to the children of Matthew and Mary Closson 5 pound each; to her son-in-law, Matthew Closson, 10 shillings; to Thomas Copley 3 pounds; to Samuel and John Lankton 20 shillings each.

Mr. Phelps resided on the Orton place opposite his father's homestead, which he purchased of his brother Samuel. Here he resided up to 1656-7, when he removed with part of his family to Northampton, Mass., one of its first settlers. Says Stiles: "He was a pious man of good intellect, and of a sound, discriminating judgment—was one of the first deacons of the N. Church. His homestead was occupied by him for 43 years, and by his descendants until 1835." His homestead comprised the land which was over fifty years ago occupied by Miss Margaret Dwight's school, and which at a later date was the College Institute of J. J. Dudley, Esq., and which is now Shady Lawn. The old homestead stood a few rods north of that edifice. (Clark's Northampton Antiquity).

Although Mr. Phelps, removed to Northampton in 1656-7, we find him paying slip rent in Windsor 4th Jan., 1659.

Feb. 8th, 1679, Dea. Nathaniel Phelps, with his sons Nathaniel Jr. and William, took the oath of allegiance before Worshipful Maj. Pynchon.

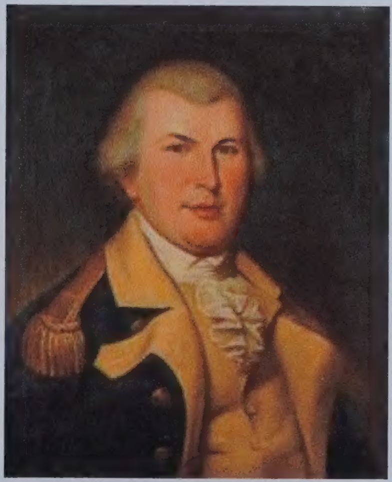
The senior Green brothers. Rufus, Jacob, Nathaniel, and Thomas.

Rufus Greene, Sr., was one of the senior Green brothers who did business under various firm names from the 1770's until the 1800's, including the names Jacob Greene & Co. and Nathaniel Greene & Co.

The Greene brothers were an important merchant company of the time and in area around Pawtuxet, with their ships using Apponanug Cove. Most of the land along the actual Apponanug Cove was owned by Jacob Greene & Co. The Greenes had buildings in Providence for their merchant shipping activities. James, Nathaniel, and Thomas Greene all held property in Providence at the time. [1770 List of Providence Taxpayers] The Greenes used the seaport of Apponanug for docking and fitting out their ships which they sent in the triangular and coastal trades . The Greenes not only had ships and farms, but also a grist mill, sawmill, ironworks, wharfs and warehouses.



Nathaniel (shown at left) was the Greene who many regard as the most important general in the Revolutionary WarAdditional knowledge about the important Greene family is available, after thirty years of effort, in the Papers of Major-General Nathaniel Greene. . The 13 volume publication by the Rhode Island Historical Society not only documents the achievements of one of Rhode Island's most distinguished sons, but also adds a wealth of information for the study of colonial Rhode Island and of the American Revolution.

Dear Mrs. Leach;

I am enclosing some Weed/Wead material but have no more on the Phelps family. Records of Pittsfield and Pittsford do get mixed up and the Weeds were there for a time and a brother Benjamin died at Lanesboro (afew miles from Pittsford). It is possible that Pittsford was a stopover on the trip North. The Wead spelling seems to be used by the families that settled in New York, Franklin and Clinton Cos.

Have you tried the International Genealogical Index in one of the Lader Day Saints (Mormon) Churches for Phelps. This is where I found all the children of John.

Not much else.

Sincerely;

Charles E. Teske

Dear Ms. Leach

I picked your name from the Genealogical Helper looking for Dolly Phelps who should be the same as on the enclosed family group sheet which maybe of some help. I am searching for a brother of Dolly's husband John Weed. Ezra spelled the name WEAD and resided in Franklin Co. VT and Franklin Co. NY where he died in 1844.

It seems that the Phelps family may have resided for a time in Pittsford, Rutland Co. VT and it is possible that some information maybe in the "History of Pittsford" by Calvery (sp). The birth of the Phelps children were taken from the Family History Center IGI (Later Day Saints).

Hope this helps.
